CARRANZA'S NOTE IS INDICATED TO BE OF A CONCILIATORY TONE

However, It is Impossible to Say Whether or Not It Will be Acceptable to Wilson.

WILL BE DELIVERED TODAY

Announcement From Mexican Embassy as to Contents Has Further Lessened Tension.

REPLY TO BOTH U. S. NOTES

May Not Make Full Compliance With American Demands.

Washington, July 4. — General Carranza's reply to the sharp notes from the Washington government was at the Mexican embassy tonight, and a verbal synopsis made public with the approval of Eliseo Arredondo, ambassador designate, indicated that it was of an unexpectedly conciliatory character.

The formal communication arrived by telegraph early in the day, and only the fact that the Fourth of July was being celebrated by all government departments prevented its immediate delivery. It will be presented at the State Department tomorrow.

May Not Define Attitude.

Mr. Arredondo spent the day in the country and on his return declined to discuss his government's attitude as now officially stated.

It was impossible tonight to say whether the note would prove satisfactory to President Wilson. Since the release of the American troopers taken at Carrizal the question at issue between the Washington government and General Carranza has been narrowed to Mr. Wilson's desire for a formal declaration of intention towards the American expeditionary forces in Mexico. The embassy synopsis of the new note indicates that a specific statement is lacking.

Will a Reply be Necessary.

Only a close study of the reply will disclose whether it will be necessary to press General Carranza again to affirm or deny the hostile construction placed upon his orders that American troops be attacked if they moved in any direction except toward the border. Without doubt the embassy statement has further lessened the diplomatic tension between the two governments, already stripped of its immediately dangerous character by the release of the Carrizal prisoners. It is entirely possible, however, that American officials will not fully share the optimistic views of the Mexican embassy when the Carranza note has been studied.

One fact stood out clearly tonight in the minds of officials familiar with President Wilson's desires and purposes. If General Carranza sincerely desides to find a way for peaceful settlement of the differences between the two governments, he will be met more than half way. No proposal for immediate withdrawal of General Pershing's troops, however, would be entertained as a preliminary to a further exchange of views on joint operations against bandits.

The embassy synopsis of the latest communication indicates that the de facto government has sought to bring its side of the diplomatic correspondence up to date. It is framed as a reply both to the American note refusing to entertain any request for the immediate withdrawal of American troops from Mexico and to the later stern demands, presented after the Carrizal incident for release of the prisoners taken in that fight and for a formal diplomatic statement of intentions. In both of these documents, Secretary Lansing sharply reprimanded the de facto government for failure to observe ordinary diplomatic usages. His first note resented charges of bad faith, political intriguing and the like, openly stated in the Mexican demand for withdrawal; the second tersely notified the de facto government that the United States expected to receive diplomatic communications through diplomatic channels and not through subordinate military commanders.

These were the first American communications to the de facto government in which anything but wholly friendly language was employed.

Tone May Have Great Weight.

In view of this situation, officials believe the language and general tone of the present Carranza note will have great weight with President Wilson in deciding upon a course. It is expected General Carranza will be required to make redress in some form for the discourteous tone of his previous communications if entirely amicable relations are to be resumed.

According to the embassy synopsis of the communication, which officials believe was prepared personally by General Carranza, it renews assurances that the de facto government will restore order in Northern Mexico and establish an adequate guard against border raiders. It is said to suggest that the presence of American troops in Mexico only serves to increase unsettled conditions in the border states, but not to make any new demands for their withdrawal.

It is not known whether any mention

DAY ALONG BORDER IS WITHOUT CLASH

Unusually Close Watch Kept in Towns Because of Fourth of July Celebrations.

MEXICAN IS OVERPOWERED

Seized by Paraders When he Makes Insulting Gesture—Movement of Guardsmen Continues—Truck Companies Arrive.

San Antonio, Texas, July 4.—Fear that the celebration of Independence Day in American border towns might provoke a clash with Mexicans prompted army officers to keep an unusually close watch along the international line today, but reports tonight all told of comparative quiet.

Some excitement was caused here during the Fourth of July parade when Jesus Alamanso, a Mexican, was overpowered by the crowd after he had made an insulting gesture as the parade was passing.

Only the arrival of the police saved Alamanso from injury. He was taken to police headquarters and later released.

The big movement of guardsmen toward the border continued unabated today. Little was known here of the troops that are being sent to El Paso and stations west of there, but it is known that General Funston and his staff have worked out a station list with the idea of providing adequate forces, so far as possible, for all districts from which men might be drawn for immediate general operations in Mexico. When the two general officers, designated under the new plan of providing a field army formation, assume charge of the work in the west they will find there all the men now available and so disposed that they can be moved easily to any positions the new commanding officers may desire.

Four of the 45 new truck companies recently ordered, 33 automobile trucks to a company, are due to reach Fort Sam Houston this week. Other companies will be sent to border points as fast as factories can supply the trucks.

From six to 24 carloads of horses are being received daily at the re-mount station here. It is estimated that 10,000 horses will be received here this week.

Among the recruits that appeared for service today were 25 of those listed for court martial because they failed to respond when the Texas militia was called. Major Blanton Winship, judge advocate, who was sent here from Fort Leavenworth to try the "slackers," now is finding it difficult to find any of the delinquents to place on trial, almost all having re-entered the service.

CALM COUNSEL IS URGED BY WILSON

"Getting Our Fighting Blood Up" Not the Short Way of Securing Rights, He Says.

DEDICATES LABOR TEMPLE

President Repeatedly Applauded While Addressing Large Audience in Washington — Suffragist Tries to Interfere.

Washington, July 4.—President Wilson today dedicated "to common counsel and a common understanding," a labor temple erected here as the new home of the American Federation of Labor. He told a large audience gathered at the dedicatory exercises that the greatest barrier to industrial peace had been the difficulty of insuring candid and dispassionate conferences, and that "getting our fighting blood up" was "the long way and not the short way" of securing rights.

The President's address was interrupted twice by a woman suffragist who sought to heckle him regarding his opposition to a national suffrage amendment. She was silenced by secret service men and finally taken away by the police. The Congressional Union announced tonight that the effort was but the first step in a new campaign to impress Democratic leaders with the advisability of passing the amendment at this session of Congress.

Appeals for Calm Counsel.

Mr. Wilson's plea for calm counsel brought repeated applause from the crowd who apparently interpreted it as having an indirect bearing on the Mexican crisis. The President, however, did not refer to Mexico or any other foreign country by name.

"The way we generally strive for rights," he said, "is by getting our fighting blood up, and I venture to say that it is the long way and not the short. If you come at me with your fists doubled, I think I can promise you that mine will double as fast as yours; but if you come at me and say, 'let us sit down and take counsel together, and, if we differ with one another, understand why it is that we differ, just what the points at issue are; we presently will find that we are not so far apart after all, that the points in which we agree are many and that if we only have the patience and the candor and the desire to get together, we will get together.'

Suffragette Quickly Silenced.

The President scarcely had begun to speak when the first interruption came. The questioner, Miss Mabel Vernon, of the Woman's party, was standing only a few feet from him, and when he declared that in his position he was not permitted to think of any one class of persons, she shouted:

"If you truly desire to serve all classes, why do you block the Nation's suffrage amendments now before Congress? Four million women in this country—"

The White House secret service made their way to Miss Vernon and quickly silenced her. She tried unsuccessfully to induce them to eject her from the crowd. When she again sought to interrupt the President, a few minutes later, however, city police led her away from the speakers' stand. She was not arrested.

President Undisturbed.

The President apparently was undis-

NEEDS MORE THAN PATRIOTIC THRILLS

Hughes Says America Needs Intelligent Comprehension of Ideals of Democracy.

FIGHTING SPIRIT YET ALIVE

Declares He Has Been Long on Silence and Short on Talk and That the Past Three Weeks Seem to Him Like Five Years.

Bridgehampton, N. Y., July 4.—Charles E. Hughes, speaking at the nearby village of East Hampton today, told a Fourth of July audience that what America needs just now above all other things is an intelligent comprehension of the ideals of democracy. He asserted that the nation needs more than thrills in its patriotism and said his dream of America was of a country officered by its best men actuated by no thought of self. He devoutly hoped, the nominee declared, for a new birth of the sentiment of unity from the country's present perils.

Still Have Fighting Spirit.

"We are not a rash people," he said. "We are not filled with a spirit of militarism. We are not anxious to get into trouble, but if anybody thinks that the spirit of service and sacrifice is lost and that we have not got the old sentiment of self-respect, he doesn't understand the United States."

Mr. Hughes spoke from a knoll on the village green. He motored over from his summer home here to review the village preparedness parade, and had not intended to address the crowd. At the close of the programme, however, he consented to speak briefly.

"I have been long on silence and very short on talk," he said. "It is an odd experience that I am going through, picking up the threads of old relations. I think I have lived at least five years in the last three weeks.

"It is all very well to talk about the declaration and the strong sentiments which it contains, but that was backed by men—men who couldn't have indited it, men who couldn't have committed it to memory, men who couldn't have repeated it, but men in whose lives the incarnation of independence and whose spirit was breathed into that immortal document.

Vast Amount of Thoughtfulness.

"It is because we had men who were willing to suffer, to die, to venture and to sacrifice that we have the country and that it is only by that spirit that we will ever be able to keep a country. I love to think of those hardy men coming here with the spirit that led all pioneers farther and farther west, the same spirit which in every part of our land has accounted for our development. Quiet men, not noisy men; sensible men, not foolish men; straight men, honest men, dependable men, real men—that is what we mean by Americanism. There is a vast amount of good judgment in this country, much more than the head-

PARADES IN MANY SOUTHERN CITIES

Thousands Take Part in Most Complete Independence Day Celebration in Years.

GUARDSMEN ARE REVIEWED

Preparedness and Americanization Pageants Are the Features in a Number of Cities—Patriotic Exercises Are Held.

Atlanta, Ga., July 4. — Preparedness and Americanization parades in many Southern cities and the review of National Guardsmen in several mobilization camps made up the most complete celebration of Independence Day in Southern States during recent years. Thousands marched in preparedness demonstrations in Atlanta, Mobile and Macon, while New Orleans held an "Americanization" parade as a supplement to the preparedness parade, which took place there on Flag Day.

In Nashville and Montgomery the Guardsmen in the Tennessee and Alabama mobilization camps were reviewed and in the latter city the Alabama brigade, numbering 4,000, paraded the streets.

In Atlanta it is estimated that 30,000 persons, including Governor Harris, marched in a demonstration for national defense this morning. The governor later went to Macon, where, with members of the Georgia legislature, he reviewed a preparedness parade which included nearly 5,000 Georgia Guardsmen from the Macon camp. Fully 15,000 are said to have been in line in Macon and in Mobile.

Tennessee's Guardsmen wound up their review in Nashville with competitive drills and athletic games.

In other cities throughout the South the day was observed with patriotic exercises, picnics and athletic events.

ROANOKE CELEBRATES THE FOURTH WITH BIG PARADE

Roanoke, Va., July 4. — Five thousand persons participated in a patriotic parade here this morning in celebration of the Declaration of Independence and the formal opening of a $300,000 municipal building which has just been constructed. Governor Stuart and staff reviewed the procession. This afternoon the governor made the principal address at the city hall opening ceremonies. Other speakers were Representative Rainey, of Illinois, and Mayor Charles M. Broun, and James A. Bear, of Roanoke.

FIVE THOUSAND VISIT THE VIRGINIA MILITIA CAMP

Richmond, Va., July 4.—Five thousand people came to Richmond today on excursion trains from various parts of the state to visit the National Guard campaign and their presence was the only feature of the city's celebration of the Fourth. Offices and business houses closed but there was no programme of celebration.

Richmond, Va., July 4.—On orders of the War Department received here today, all cars which have been held in waiting to move the Virginia National Guard to the Mexican border have been sent to Baltimore to move the Maryland guard. No orders for the movement of Virginia troops have been received.

FRENCH CAPTURE TWO MORE VILLAGES AND BROADEN THEIR DRIVE

GERMANS FORCED TO AN OPEN FIELD

Have Lost All Defensive Works in Sector Along the Somme, Where French Are Active.

WHAT BRITISH ARE DOING

Major General Maurice Says All the While the British Have Been Preparing for Great Drive at Joffre's Request.

London, July 4.—"Only German soldiers in open field formations now stand between the French and the river Somme," said Major General Maurice today, referring to the part of the river which flows northward to the east of the sector along which the French have made their greatest gains.

"The last of the enemy's defensive works in that sector have been captured by our allies."

In giving the Associated Press a summary of the results attained by the Entente Allied offensive on the western front, Major General Maurice, who is director of military operations of the imperial general staff, continued:

"Much undeserved obloquy has been heaped upon the British army by English, French and American people because we apparently did nothing to assist the French in the desperate fighting on the Verdun front. But all this time we were doing the part requested by General Joffre.

"According to this plan, we conserved our troops, accumulated supplies and waited the word for the grand offensive in which we were to play our part with the Russians and Italians, as well as the French. Naturally, during these anxious weeks, we could give out no exciting news, because our deliberate preparations were not good copy. For certain tactical and moral reasons, which need not be dilated on, it was necessary that the French should not lose the east bank of the Meuse and General Joffre informed us that he could hold the positions which command that part of the river until the end of June so we knew we were going to strike at the beginning of July.

"The blow planned by the allied general staffs included offensives by the Russians and Italians which, I do not need to tell you, already have begun. We are not disappointed with our own advance, which we expected to be slow, and we are enormously pleased with the wonderful progress made by the French who, with comparatively light losses, are sweeping forward to the Somme.

"It is quite evident the Germans were surprised by the strength of the French offensive. They evidently believed our allies would be kept too busy before Verdun to participate seriously in the western offensive which they knew was coming. Consequently, we made extensive preparations upon

They Have Straightened Their Line Somewhat, and Are Advancing Towards Peronne.

BRITISH PROGRESS IS SLOW

Battle of Somme Has Not Interfered With the German Offensive Around Verdun.

THEY RE-TAKE THIAUMONT

Russian Cavalry Patrols Reach Hungarian Territory.

French troops, co-operating with the British in the Somme river region, have straightened their line somewhat by the capture of Barlieux-Beloy-En-Santerre and Estrees, where 500 prisoners were taken, the fighting is still going on furiously.

On the British end of the line, only slight progress has been made at some points. Unofficial dispatches say that the entire British front of 90 miles is bearing its full share of the battle, the heaviest fighting being toward the south.

Heavy Fighting at Verdun.

A high British officer states that artillery preparation will precede all further infantry attacks as the resourcefulness, determination and fighting qualities of the Germans as well as the power of their defenses are well recognized.

Although the French are making a steady advance in the Somme sector, without apparently heavy casualties, and now face an easier task, according to expert opinion, to reach the river itself, the Verdun army is engaged in particularly heavy fighting, the Germans not having permitteed the battle of the Somme to interfere with their operations for the capture of the great fortress. On the Verdun front the Germans have taken the Thiaumont work for the fourth time, after a terrific bombardment, and by a massed attack. Around this work, which has been the center of desperate attacks and counter attacks for many days past thousands of men have fallen, for this is a position which is essential to the Germans for carrying their advance nearer to Verdun itself, and to the French to keep their resistance intact.

Russians and Italians are lending all their strength to the combined blow against the Central Powers, and Bucharest reports a significant movement of Russian patrols, who are said to have advanced from Kimpolong to Bukowina and entered Hungarian territory. All along the Russian front heavy engagements are in progress, and the Russians, driving north from Koloma, have advanced more than 20 miles, and are threatening to outflank General Von Bothmer's army and the Austro-German forces in the Tarnopol region. Should this Russian movement prove successful, Von Bothmer may have to fall back on Lemberg.

The Russians report the capture of many guns and more than 3,000 prisoners on the various sectors of the eastern front.

Though the official communications with respect to the battles along the Austro-Italian front are the meagre, that issued by the Italian war office indicates that the artillery and infantry fighting is of a continuous and desperate nature. The Austrian war office is silent regarding the operations against the Italians.

PRESSURE STILL EXERTED ALONG THE ENTIRE LINE

Paris, July 4 — The steady pressure of the Franco-British offensive continues to be exerted along the entire line of operations. Reports show an increasing number of batteries captured, including a number of big guns. All points thus far taken by the French have been held against every counter attack, an dthe French troops are busily occupied in organizing and fortifying the captured towns and zones.

In the main, the early reports indicate the systematic progress with which the offensive is being continued rather than any concentration on a single point. The taking of Assevillers last night is considered of especial importance, as the town was the center of one of the principal German defensive organizations.

The fighting at Estrees was particularly violent. The village stretches over two kilometers among the old Roman road from Amiens. The French attacked at one end of the village and gradually drove the enemy from house to house, but have not succeeded in capturing the entire town.

North of the Somme the French have maintained their contact with the British lines so that the two wings continue their co-operation along a 25-mile front.

ALL ASSAULTS BY BRITISH AND FRENCH FAIL, SAYS BERLIN

Berlin, via London, July 4—Heavy forces have been thrown into allied attacks on the German lines both north and south of the Somme in renewed attempts to advance, the war office announced today, but all the assaults

OFFENSIVE OF THE BRITISH HAMPERED BY HEAVY RAINS

Germans, Reinforced, Are Stubbornly Contesting Every Yard of the Ground—Central Powers Evidently Realize They Are Losing the Initiative—Prisoners Taken by French Over 14,000.

London, July 4.—The two British official dispatches issued today record little change in the situation on the British front. They show that the Germans have brought up strong reinforcements from other parts of the line and are stubbornly contesting every yard of the British advance.

Torrential rains today, however, hampered the offensive operations and the British action was confined mostly to consolidating the ground already won.

The French have captured two more villages, and are on good roads to Perronne. But there is yet no decrease in the violence of the German attacks in the Verdun region.

Dispatches from German war correspondents indicate the realization that the Central Powers are losing the initiative, which their favorable position on the interior lines enabled them to hold throughout the war. Moreover, in commenting on the enormous resources in munitions and war material, they equally recognize that a profound change has occurred in the relations of the belligerents.

Simultaneously with the opening of the Anglo-French offensive, the Russian armie sare again attacking on the whole length of the front. An entirely ne woffensive has been opened against Prince Leopold's Bavarian forces in the region of Baranovichi, where the Russians have pierced the German lines at two places; while the Italians are maintaining strong pressure along their entire front.

High Hopes of British.

The British newspapers consider that these events prove that the moment "of the great squeeze" has at last arrived and not since the war began have hopes run so high. Nevertheless, almost every British correspondent on the western front warns against being over sanguine, and daily reiterates that the progress must necessarily be slow and methodical.

Up to the present, the Anglo-French captures in the battle of the Somme total more than 14,000 prisoners, 12 heavy guns and 29 field guns.

The battle rages on such an extended front that the correspondents find difficulty in sifting the main currents of the operations. The Associated Press correspondent in a pregnant phrase, records what is perhaps one of the most significant features when he notes "the amazing change from trench-tied warfare to that of an army in progress."

The same striking feature comes out in an interesting review of the operations which the Associated Press has obtained in an interview with Major F. B. Maurice, who predicts an immediate development, south of the Somme where, he says, the fighting now is in open field formation.

Satisfactory Situation.

All unofficial dispatches speak chiefly of the satisfactory situation on the British front, a notable incident being the surrender of a complete Prussian infantry battalion with officers to the British near Fricourt. German prisoners are beginning to arrive in England, 100 being landed at Southampton today.

In the face of the exciting events on the western front, the Russian operations to some extent have been lost sight of, but they are of increasing interest. Reports in the Austrian official communications of the fighting southeast of Tlumach indicate that General Von Bothmer's forces must have fallen back from the Tarnopol in an effort to meet the threat to his

PROBE IS TO CONTINUE UNTIL FACTS ARE KNOWN

Says Judge Bond, in Beginning Hearing in Lynching Case.

No Evidence of Value Produced at First Session of Hearing in Case of Greene County Men Yesterday at Kinston.

(Special Star Telegram).

Kinston, N. C., July 4.—Judge W. M. Bond, sitting as committing magistrate in special hearing in cases of Archie Frizzelle and Sam Stocks, Greene county farm tenants, arrested yesterday for complicity in the lynching of Joseph Black, colored, on April 5, announced today that he expected to continue investigation until "the facts are known." He stated the purpose of hearing to be to ferret out those who were responsible for the lynching.

The hearing was started at 2:40. Several witnesses were examined. All stated they did not know any members of the mob. The witnesses included the sheriff, jailer and policemen. The investigation was adjourned until tomorrow without important evidence having been introduced. The hearing is expected to consume several days.

The only material evidence today was that of Policemen Claude Sumrell, of Kinston, who testified that one night in an automobile a man pointed out a place on the edge of Kinston saying it was the place where the negro was killed. He could not identify Stocks as the man. He also said the man called the names of two men "who did the shooting," and "forgot the names."

Other witnesses today were Sheriff Taylor and Jailer Allen, of Lenoir county, the jailer telling how leaders of the mob presented weapons at him and forced him to give the negro to them, but that he knew none of the men.

Other witnesses gave no material facts and not one testified to the identity of any one of the lynchers.

Mild Sensation Sprung.

Judge Bond sprung a mild sensation when he stated in open court that Solicitor Shaw had received an anonymous letter mailed in Kinston Monday which is supposed to contain threats against the State's prosecutor, Judge Bond offering a reward of $50 for iden-

NONSENSE TO SAY THAT THE NATIONS DO NOT WANT PEACE

But All the Belligerents Feel There Must be Some Sort of Decision in Their Favor — How Can the Various Governments Face Their People With Empty Hands?

Stockholm, July 4. — In Stockholm, where wayfarers of all nations meet and mingle on neutral ground, but a few hours' journey from belligerent lands, it is possible to learn much that may be credited as to the views of governments and peoples concerning the possibilities and the problems of peace. This is particularly true with regard to the Germans and Russians, for at this time the nationals of these countries make up by far the larger part of the foreign population in Scandinavia. Officials and travelers from France and England are also constantly passing through Stockholm on their way to Petrograd, leaving behind their entirely informal and unofficial ideas as to what the future holds.

From contact not alone with officials and men of influence fresh from the warring countries, but with the diplomats accredited to the Swedish capital as well, the correspondent of The Associated Press can state that each government as it contemplates the terms of peace sees behind any prospective international negotiations the far graver problem of squaring with its own people the menacing account in which a balance must be struck between benefits won and the staggering losses of blood and wealth. What will the "common people" of the belligerent countries do and say if the net result of the years' sacrifice and fighting is but a re-establishment of the ante-bellum status quo? Can anyone of the nations at war satisfy its people with such an accounting?

Whenever the prospects of an early peace seem bright, these problems cloud the skies of hope. The "official" views as to the conditions of peace allowed to drift out of Germany, Austria and the Entente countries have as yet offered no basis of agreement which takes into consideration the settlements to be made "at home" by both sides. At least that is the view taken here in Stockholm.

French Situation Least Difficult.

It is felt here that France occupies perhaps the least difficult situation of any of the nations now at war. For France was invaded, Paris was threatened and the army was called into the field in defense of home and fireside. France, it is said here, can settle on any honorable terms, and there will be little discontent among the people.

But what of Germany? Can she, it is asked, give up all the occupied territory in Europe, return to her own borders with industries shattered, foreign trade to be won all over again, and yet make the people "at home" feel that their losses and sufferings were not in vain?

Can Great Britain afford to give back to Germany all of her colonies after the sacrifices at Gallipoli, in East Africa, Mesopotamia and in the fields and trenches of Flanders and Western France? Will Germany, in these circumstances, have been sufficiently "crushed," and will Great Britain's prestige in the world have been sufficiently increased to offset the enormous losses of British lives and make easy the burdens of the years to come?

Many Theories Discussed.

Many theories are discussed here as to how peace might be accomplished if it were but a matter of give and take at the conference table, but this greatest of all world wars has wrought such a havoc of loss to all engaged in it that the mere settlement on paper is Manager Herzog, of Cincinnati, collapsed at first base in the first inning of the second game after making a single. Neal ran for him and Herzog resumed play in the field, having been revived with a glass of water.

A fusillade of empty pop bottles from the left field bleachers delay the second game five minutes in the first half of the fifth inning. Neale was on first. Ames, pitching to Killifer, grazed the batter, Gonzales, however, receiving the ball. Gonzales threw to second and when Umpire Rigler waved Killifer to first and ignored the play at second, the fans began throwing bottles. None of the missles reached the diamond and the game was continued when the bottles were removed.

DE PALMA WINS 150-MILE AUTO DERBY AT FORT SNELLING

Fort Snelling, Minn., July 4.—Ralph De Palma today won the 150 mile automobile derby, Aitken was second and Christianens was third. Time, one hour, 38 minutes, 49 24-100 seconds.

At the hour set for the race the drivers announced they would not start until the $20,000 prize fund had been placed with the American Automobile Association officials, or other adequate guarantee provided. Finally $8,000 in cash was raised, a check for $12,000 given and an order for speedway bonds to the extent of $100,000 issued as a guarantee for the check.

A review of Minnesota National Guardsmen was held before the race, and promoters had agreed to contribute ten per cent. of the gross gate receipts to the state brigade fund. No provision for this was made at the conference later, and the matter may be placed before the attorney general.

The gate receipts were said to be small. Because of the late hour of starting it was necessary to abandon the 20 mile, 50 mile and 10 mile races, included in the programme.

TOWN CREEK WINS FROM SOUTHPORT, THREE TO TWO.

Southport, N. C., July 4.—In a very interesting and all around well played game of ball this afternoon, Town Creek defeated the local team by the close score of 3 to 2. The game only went for six innings, rain having interfered.

The features were the excellent pitching of Hull for Town Creek, who demonstrated remarkable control and ability, and the all around good playing of both teams.

Washington, July 4.—New York and Washington divided honors in two games here today. In the forenoon Shawkey and Harper pitched a tight duel until the ninth, when the latter weakened and New York scored the only run of the game. Washington won in the afternoon 6 to 4 driving Fisher from the box in the third inning after he allowed eight hits and six runs. Home runs were made by McBride and Baker.

Chicago, July 4. — Chicago and St. Lois broke even today when the former won the afternoon game, 7 to 6, in 13 innings, after the visitors had taken the morning game, 2 to 1.

In the afternoon contest, after the locals had taken a four-run lead, St. Louis went ahead in the ninth. Chicago tied the count and won when Weaver singled, stole second and scored on Eddie Collins' single.

The visitors won the first game when Weaver's wild throw to third allowed Austin to score in the ninth inning.

PAUL GOTT BADLY HURT IN FALL IN MOTOR CYCLE RACE

Dodge City, Kas., July 4.—Paul Gott, of Peoria, Ills., was severely injured today when he fell from his motor cycle on the 140th mile of the third annual 300-mile motor cycle race here.

Officials of the speedway said a new dirt record for 100 miles was set by Floyd Clymer, of Greeley, Colorado, who rode the first third of the race in one hour, 12 minutes and 45 seconds.

Memphis, Tenn., July 5.—Esmond Phelps and J. H. Burns, New Orleans; Carleton Smith, Atlanta, and J. P. Adoue, Dallas, advanced to the fourth round singles and a start was made in the doubles today in the tournament here for the tennis championship of the South. Play in the ladies' singles and mixed doubles will begin tomorrow.

"I CAN NOW CUT WOOD WITH EASE," SAYS MRS. BISHOP

South Thirteenth Street Woman Rejuvenated Since Taking Tanlac After Being Sick For Ten Years.

Mrs. A. C. Bishop, of 215 South Thirteenth street, is so rejuvenated since taking Tanlac that, she says, "I can now cut wood with ease."

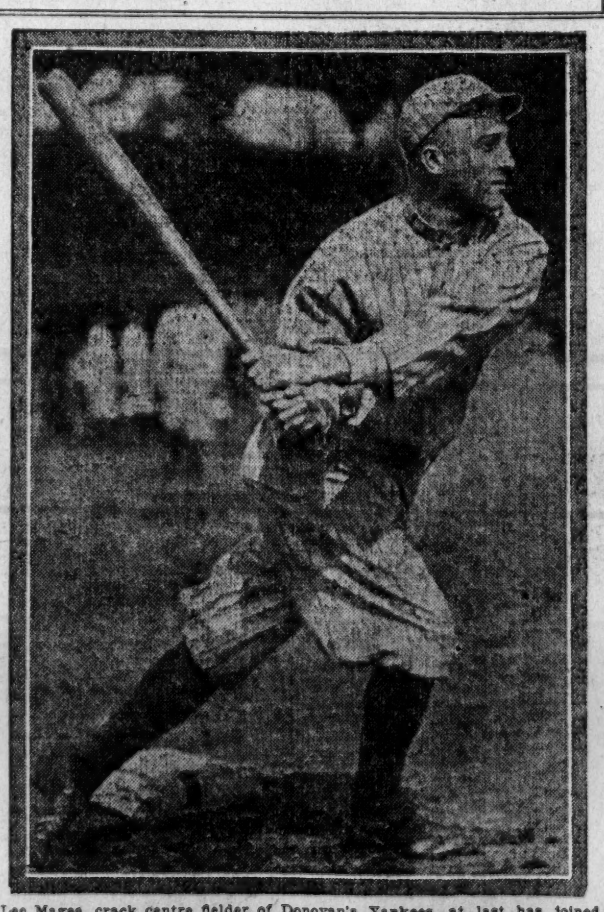
This is a feat that not all women can boast of, and is particularly interesting in this case when one considers that for the past ten years Mrs. Bishop was a victim of stomach ills.

"I continued in ill health," Mrs. Bishop explained to the Tanlac Man, "even though I doctored right along. Food caused gas accumulations and pains around my heart and left side. I could eat but little, and had to take purgatives almost continuously. Before taking Tanlac, which I heard so highly recommended, I was troubled with pains in my kidneys and was run down and very weak. I had almost despaired of regaining my health.

"I am now on my third bottle of Tanlac and am proud to say that I am feeling better than for ten years. I can eat anything I care to without fear of attending distress afterward, and am feeling so much improved in every way that I can now cut wood with ease, and I cheerfully endorse Tanlac to all women who might be suffering near as bad as I was."

This is another of the remarkable indorsements to Tanlac that should remove any remaining doubt from minds of Wilmington men and women as to Tanlac's merits as a reconstructive tonic-appetizer, invigorant and blood and system purifier. It is sold only and explained daily at the Bellamy Drug Store by the Tanlac Man; in Burgaw, by C. L. Halstead; Rocky Point, A. N. Rhodes & Co.; Magnolia, J. L. Southall; Southport, Watson's Pharmacy; Supply, G. W. Kirby; New Bern, Bradham Drug Co. Each town has a Tanlac druggist. —adv.

CRACK CENTER FIELDER OF THE YANKEES.



Lee Magee, crack centre fielder of Donovan's Yankees, at last has joined the live ones, and has joined them with a rush. There can be no denying that Magee was a big disappointment for some time. For a while it seemed that "Oil Man" Sinclair put one over on Messrs. Ruppert and Huston when he made the Yankee owners part with $25,000 for the former Brookfed manager's release. However, Lee is now drowning out all such chatter with his base hits.

LETTER CARRIERS AND P. O. CLERKS CONVENE

Hold State Convention and Elect Officers in Asheville.

Two Bodies Hold Joint Annual Meeting. Gastonia Selected for Meeting Next Year—Entertainment Features.

Special Star Telegram).

Asheville, N. C., July 4.—With over 100 delegates present, the joint annual convention of the North Carolina branches of the United States Association of Postoffice Clerks and the National Letter Carriers Association was held here today, Claude V. Brown, of this city, presiding. The delegates were welcomed to the city by Commissioner of Public Safety D. Hiden Ramsey and, after several addresses, adjourned to the Langren Hotel where a banquet was served.

Before adjourning to their separate business sessions, the joint convention unanimously decided to meet at Gastonia next year.

The letter carriers elected the following officers: F. Stikeleather, Jr., Asheville, president; J. M. Whitely, Raleigh, vice-president; B. J. Summerow, Charlotte, secretary-treasurer; B. A. Jones, Gastonia, sergeant at arms.

The postoffice clerks elected the following officers: W. L. Walters, Gastonia, president; J. W. Howard, Raleigh, vice-president; B. S. Eldridge, Greensboro, secretary-treasurer; A. M. L. Garner, Charlotte, chairman organization committee; T. M. Phillips, Raleigh, eastern organizer; T. N. Henry, Asheville, western organizer.

The joint convention was featured by an address by Postmaster Owen Gudger, among other speakers, and the local committee had prepared an elaborate programme of entertainment for the visitors.

Greensboro, N. C., July 4.—Rural letter carriers of the State adjourned today to meet next in Goldsboro. Officers were re-elected as follows: President Honeycutt, Raleigh; Secretary Lowe, Burlington; Chaplain Hunt, Oxford.

JACK DILLON KNOCKS OUT JIM FLYNN IN FOURTH ROUND

The first two rounds were even, while Flynn led in the third. In the fourth, the fireman went to the floor twice for a count of eight before Dillon sent home the blows that won the fight.

RUSH STRONG SURRENDERS

Charged with Shooting S. B. Luttrell, Jr., at McMillan, Tenn.

Knoxville, Tenn., July 4.—Rush Strong, of McMillan, Tenn., today surrendered himself to the authorities who charge him with having shot S. B. Luttrell, Jr., during a street quarrel last night, and was released on bond to appear in court tomorrow. Luttrell is in a local hospital and is expected to recover. Both young men are members of families prominent in this vicinity and neither has divulged the cause of the shooting.

HON. FRANCIS WINSTON ACCEPTS APPOINTMENT

J. W. Bailey His Probable Successor as District Attorney.

Judge Peebles' Successor on Superior Court Bench is Present District Attorney—Craig to See Wilson Today.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., July 4.—Announcement that Hon. Francis D. Winston accepts appointment at the hands of Governor Craig as Superior Court judge to succeed the late Judge R. B. Peebles in the Third district has stirred the expectation here that he will be succeeded as United States district attorney most probably by J. W. Bailey, collector of internal revenue for this district. The salaries are the same, $4,500, while the salary of the Superior court judge is only $4,000.

There is believed to be a strong likelihood that Joe Taylor, of Washington, now secretary to the United States Senate Finance committee, at a salary of $3,000, will get the place of collector of internal revenue if Mr. Bailey vacates to take the district attorneyship.

The pressing need for the services of the judges of the Superior court will necessitate immediate action by Judge Winston in resigning and a considerable shifting of places in both Federal and State positions may be expected if the slates being made up as most probable develop.

This is Judge Winston's second appointment from a Governor as judge. He was commissioned in 1901 by Governor Aycock and was subsequently defeated for the nomination in the Third district convention by Judge Peebles, who has held the place since that time until his death.

In naming former Judge Winston, Governor Craig said: "I have appointed to this position Francis D. Winston. This appointment was suggested to me by a number of the leading men of the district and other parts of the State. Judge Winston did not apply for the place, but I am gratified to know that he will accept it. The bar and the people of the State are of the same opinion, I am sure. While on the bench some years ago he filled the position with signal ability and efficiency. He was most acceptable wherever he went and was in demand for special terms."

Craig to See President.

Governor Craig left today for Washington, D. C., to have a conference at 11 o'clock tomorrow with President Wilson relative to the procurement of such movement of the North Carolina troops for Mexican border service as will keep the various units together as far as possible under the command of Grig. Gen. Laurence W. Young. He will be in Asheville July 10 for the Forestry Association banquet on which occasion he will have a telephone conversation with Governor Johnson, of California, over the long distance telephone.

Convicts Would Enlist.

The Governor has received a petition from a number of convicts who pledge that they will enlist for service in Mexico if the Governor will pardon or parole them for the purpose. The petition is written by Walter Shelton, who is serving a life sentence for wife murder. Others who join in the petition are Vester Brown, Albert Stephenson, Robert Granger, George Buchanan and Claude McAffee.

GUARDSMEN SAY THEY GET PLENTY TO EAT IN CAMP

In Spite of Reports of "Sympathizing Civilian" Visitors.

(Special Star Correspondence).

Kinston, N. C., July 4.—Enlisted National Guardsmen here from Camp Glenn declare they get plenty to eat, in spite of reports of "sympathizing civilians" who visited the reservation Sunday. "I hope they brought their sympathy back," said one soldier." The chow is all right for soldiers. They don't make a habit of issuing ice cream with the daily ration, but the men who select what we get have a great deal more sense about it than the average civilian has. We are given what will nourish and sustain us, and what will not make us sick. The cooks? That's a different subject. Civilian cooks have been replaced with enlisted cooks. It will take some time for a few of them to 'catch on.' But there are no civilians who could go down there and straighten out all the little kinks as well as the quartermaster and other officers are doing. Besides, if anyone is being kept out of the service because there are no china plates and the spuds aren't seasoned just right, that's a godsend, too, believe me. He's got no business soldiering."

LUMBERTON BAPTISTS INCREASE PASTOR'S SALARY 25 PER CENT

First Church Shows Its Appreciation of Rev. C. L. Greaves' Work.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., July 4.—Two years ago, the First Baptist church of Lumberton called Rev. C. L. Greaves as its pastor at a salary of $2,000 per year and parsonage. At a business meeting of the church held last Sunday night, after many expressions of appreciation for his services, his salary, by a unanimous vote, was raised to $2,500.

Since his connection with the church, there have been 246 additions to the membership. The Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. have attained the "A-1 standard," under his leadership, being among the exceptionally few in the State, and the other departments of the church have attained high standards. Members who spoke their sentiments felt that the raise was an inadequate expression of the appreciation of the church of his great work; that they had knowledge of instances where pastors were receiving much larger salaries and not doing half the service that he is doing.

NEW LUMBERTON ENTERPRISE

Robeson Grocery Company, Wholesale, Ready to Begin Business.

(Special Star Correspondence).

Lumberton, N. C., July 4.—The Robeson Grocery Company was organized here Saturday and will begin business at once in the place formerly occupied by the Birmingham Company, authorized capital $50,000 with $8,000 capital paid in.

Messrs. H. J. Sawyer and C. C. Nelson, of New Bern, will be connected with the new enterprise and have already arrived in the city. Local capital is also interested.

PUTTING THE SOLDIERS THROUGH RIGID DRILLS

Work of Making Camp Glenn "Home Like" is Completed.

More Than 3,000 Men Now Encamped in the Busy Tented City—Many Have Been Rejected for Physical Unfitness.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

New Bern, N. C., July 4.—The tented city. That's what Camp Glenn, near Morehead City, is today and, outside of the fact that the men there are practically all of one nationality, it is just about as cosmopolitan a place as one could find in a week's journey.

A thousand tents dot the landscape for a distance of a half mile on each side of the railroad track and, intermingled with these canvas habitations are a number of buildings of more permanent structure. However, no one pays much attention to the tents or the metal and wooden buildings, it is the men and their activities that attract attention.

The three regiments of the North Carolina National Guard, numbering more than 3,000 men, are now encamped at that place, at least all the members of the regiments who have not been rejected on account of being physically unfit for service and who have been shipped home are now at the camp.

The soldiers are busy, in fact they are as busy as the proverbial bee, and there is but a short time during each day that there is not something for them to do. Last week the majority of their time was taken up with getting the camp "home like." This has been completed and the soldiers are this week to be put through rigid drills and at the end of the week they are going to know a whole lot more about army tactics than they do now.

The medical inspectors, who pass the final word as to whether or not the soldiers will go to the border in case they are needed, have completed inspecting the members of the First Regiment. There were 1,145 men in this regiment and out of this number 344 were found to be physically unfit.

"What is the chief cause of these rejections?" one of the inspectors was yesterday asked by the writer. "Flat feet, underweight, heart trouble, bad teeth and defective eyesight," was the reply. Upon further inquiry it was found that underweight was the cause of the majority of rejections and there are some mighty fine soldiers who have been turned down on this account. Defective eyesight is another serious trouble. There was one officer who was especially anxious to go with the soldiers down on the border, but it was found that the sight in one of his eyes was defective. "Too bad, old chap," remarked the inspector, "but you'll have to railroad it home." "Oh the deuce," replied the officer, "My other eye is perfectly good and will stand up under any sort of strain." However, he was defective and back home he's gone.

There was another man examined a day or two ago who wanted to be on hand when the firing began, if it does. He was an aged chap, gray hair and not as active as he was years ago, but he had the fighting spirit alright and he was anxious to fight for his country. Into the inspector's tent he walked when called upon to be examined. "You look rather run down," remarked the examiner. "No, I'm not at all run down," replied the applicant but it was found that his heart was weak and he, too, was given orders to go back home. The old fellow actually cried and spent the remainder of his time at the camp bemoaning the unkindness of fate.

There's only one man in camp who really does not want to go to the border, this is a member of Co. .., Reg. No. .. (we omit names on account of the fact that the officers and men of the company and regiment would not like to have the public know that they had such a man enlisted with them). This fellow was plumb scared stiff when the call came to mobilize. On the first night after the call was issued, he dreamed that he was crossing a desert with a thousand "Greasers" on his trail. He felt the heat of the sands, the sting of the bullets from the Mexican guns and he decided to remain at home.

How was he to accomplish this? Ah! An idea! He knew that men with mutilated hands would be rejected and he decided to fix himself up and on the following day he chopped off one of his fingers. However, the man went to Camp Glenn, the story leaked out and, although every effort was made "for the good of the service" to keep the matter quiet, it soon became public property. Yesterday the writer was told that the man was confined in the guard tent, allowed to see no one or to be seen and that he would be sent back home soon.

Excepting this one individual there is not now nor neither has there been a man who was not ready and willing to go down and fight the Mexicans or anyone else, were it necessary. Some of those fellows who have gone back home will return, probably, within a few days. Their only defect was underweight and they believe that they will be able to remedy this.

Expect to Leave Soon.

There is an air of expectancy with the men of the First Regiment. They are to be mustered in and receive their new uniforms and equipment this week and are expecting to be called to the border at any time. Neither the officers nor the men know when this will be, but they are ready for it. It is the general opinion that the call will come within the next ten days.

LA FAYETTE MUTUAL PROSPEROUS

Officers Elected at Annual Meeting Held at Lumberton.

(Special Star Correspondence).

Lumberton, N. C., July 4.—The annual meeting of the La Fayette Mutual Life Insurance Company was held at the office of the company here yesterday. Reports of the officers for the year were submitted and everything found in excellent shape. The assets have increased 48 per cent since last meeting. There were no unpaid claims of any kind and the business of the company showed a satisfactory growth.

The following officers and directors were elected for the ensuing year: W. J. Beattie, Jr., president; K. M. Barnes, active vice-president; O. L. Clark, E. A. Poe, A. J. McKinnon, vice-presidents; E. E. Page, secretary and treasurer; Dr. Seavy Highsmith, Dr. W. L. Grantham, medical directors; Q K. Nimocks, general counsel; K. M. Barnes, L .E. Whaley, O. L. Clark, executive committee.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 5, 1916.

TOP O' THE MORNING.

The greatest of faults, I should say, is to be conscious of none.
—THOMAS CARLYLE.

Everybody on the sidewalks.

Probably the beginning of the war has commenced.

American cartoonists had better avoid capture by the Mexicans.

We are now on the last lap of 1916! We had better make the most of it in doing things for Wilmington.

Be of good cheer. Most of us will have to go on trying to make a living in spite of everything that happens.

So long as lots of men can ride a hobby they don't mind a little thing like walking when they have no automobile.

A disgruntled politician has as many kicks coming to him as a sporty drummer who is making his first trip through dry territory.

People who have been demanding intervention in Mexico are now able to observe that one of the necessities of "watchful waiting" is playing for time.

We insist on being sent to Mexico if any and every old thing in the country is going to be allowed to go down there and do all the kicking for the amry.

There is not a word of truth in the statement that "the Progressive party committed suicide." The party was scuttled and did not get a chance to do a thing to itself.

How much nicer it is to be amiable and considerate instead of being cynical and inconsistent like Republicans whose sore toe was sore long before Wilson stepped on it.

A Vienna paper asserts that the United States will annex Mexico and all of Central America. That rag would give less cause for offense if it had only made a prediction to that effect and given Col. Henry Watterson as authortiy for it.

Tom Watson, of Georgia, is no longer a red-headed monopolist. Part of the blame for things that happen in Georgia is being put off on the Hon. Thomas B. Felder, who always manages to get in the neighborhood of the limelight way down in Georgia.

A six-day campaign for "simple business honesty" has been inaugurated in New York. Probably the campaign will include some plan to convince Big Business to relinquish its idea that simple business honesty is entirely too simple to be considered seriously by masters of finance.

Those Democratic papers which urged President Wilson to appoint former President Taft to the vacancy on the Supreme Court bench wer unintentionally wise. With nothing else to do but be a professor, Dr. Taft has taken dinner with Candidate Hughes and assured him that he is for any old thing to breat Wilson. A place on the bench would have made Mr. Taft unspeakable.

A Chicago man is trying to get up a reputation by claiming that permangate of potash is a sure cure for snakebite. However, no peddler of any potash dcoction would be tolerated by the Virginians. They can never be induced to adopt any so-called cure so long as they can make their own cure and label it "Old North Carolina Corn." Following tradition in Virginia is following the line of least resistance.

The Charleston Post remarks: "Uncle Sam is going to erect a neat fence of hot lead as a pretty sure protection for American border residents." On the other hand, a Mexican editor at Saltillo has no idea that such a thing as a hot lead fence can be put up along the Mexican border. In fact, it is his idea that if war breaks out the Mexicans will march triumphantly to Washington and plant the tri-color on the dome of the capitol whether the janitor orders the invaders away or not.

DELAYING THE EVIL HOUR.

The country is beginning to observe that the Chicago Tribune's "roaring mad" crowd is not such a large element as the noisy opponents of the administration have pretended to suppose. In fact, President Wilson is unconscious of the influence of the jingoes who would hasten their country and its people into a crisis, when a man of Wilson's wisdom may yet find a way to avoid a most disagreeable task for the American people. He proposes, as he said, to do his conscientious duty in spite of the haste makers, even though his calm and deliberate course may seriously affect his political chances.

The truth is, however, the President grows stronger all the time by pursuing the even tenor of his way and relying upon his own wisdom in dealing with the destinies of the American and the Mexican people. Even if the die finally has to be cast, there is nothing to be lost in leaving it all to the judicious and cautious President of the American Republic. More and more the people are trusting him and their faith in him is growing, as there is abundant proof as time passes. The [illegible] the press seem to be settling down to just this conviction, as it is expressed in a thoughtful, able editorial in the Baltimore Sun:

"We imagine that only persons of a Roosevelt type of mind will grumble because the President allows Carranza a few days more to reflect. We have everything to gain and nothing to lose by the exercise of a little patience. Even from a military point of view, we shall be gainers by every day's delay. The United States will be in a better position to strike effectively by the middle of this week than it was the middle of last. It is quite certain from the President's address to the New York Press Club that we will not strike at all, unless Carranza forces us to do so. But in the meantime we are getting ready, and the longer Carranza takes to make up his mind, the better it will be for us. The de facto government is at its strongest now in a military sense, but, if hostilities begin, it will steadily grow weaker, while we will constantly grow stronger. It would seem that if Carranza had seriously contemplated war, he would not have waited for us to prepare.

"We believe the President's frank admission that he will keep the country out of war if possible has done as much to strengthen him as anything he has said for a long time, and we believe his declaration reflects the sober second thought of the large majority of the American people. We may be mistaken in this belief, and Mr. Wilson may overestimate the strength of the rational and humane feeling to which he referred, but whether he does or not it is clear that he will persist in the effort to deal with Mexico along the lines of a higher law than that known to ordinary diplomacy. And he is prepared to suffer for his fidelity to his convictions and to the unusual form of political and public conscience which causes him to resist the fierce impulses of human nature, and to deal with international issues like this as moral questions as well as questions of national honor and material interest.

"The President has not assumed any 'heroic' airs, but, talking of 'heroism,' it will seem to most dispassionate people that he exhibits a very fine specimen of moral courage, and one which entitles him to be put in the real 'hero' class when he says that no matter what effect such a policy may have on his personal fortunes, he is content to await the future 'verdict of mankind.' Personally, he added, 'it will be a matter of indifference to me what the verdict on the 7th of November is, provided I feel any degree of confidence that when a later jury sits I shall get its judgment in my favor.' This is a challenge to the American people as well as to the Republican party, and unless the former have lost touch temporarily with the principles of justice and right dealing on which Americanism is founded they will not repudiate the man who insists on putting its words and its spirit into practice."

The President is right, and whether he be vindicated on the 7th of next November or not, he surely will be vindicated by time. However, we note plainly the evidences that the people are putting more faith than ever in their country's humane President. The war cry has ceased to be a tocsin, but sober second thought comes to the whole country when it sees its young men called to the colors and likely to be cast soon into the maelstrom of battle. They have mobilized and are moving to the vortex, to butcher or be butchered, even though the victory is sure for our powerful country in a conflict with its weak and distracted neighbor. It is no longer a fanciful idea that stirs us but the stern reality that we are about to face stirs our deeper emotions. Thus the real sentiment comes in this shape from the Chester (Pa.) Republican:

"It cannot be said of our city and our young men that both did not do their duty when the call came for soldiers for our army, in view of the strained relations with Mexico. In Philadelphia and other places there was some hesitancy on the part of young men joining the ranks of the militia, but this was not the case in this city and in the county. Two days after the local companies, B and C, had left for Mount Gretna, word came from Adjuntant General Thomas J. Stewart, to stop recruiting in this city. At the time this order was received at the armory there were a number of acceptable young men waiting to pass the examination and take the oath of allegiance to give their service and lives, if need be, in the present hour of difficulty. It will always remain to the credit of our young men that more than enough answered the summons of President Wilson for soldiers. It was ever thus. When war broke out between Spain and this country Chester was at the front in furnishing all the men asked for by the government. The skies brightened somewhat yesterday when the news was received that Carranza had ordered the release of the captured American soldiers. The crucial hour may be passed, but if it has, Chester and her citizens did their duty when the sky was the darkest with threatening war clouds."

Yes, our young men are patriotically willing to do their duty, but as we see them entrain and go away from us, we realize seriously what it all means for them and for us. Therefore, "the skies brighten" when comes the tidings that war may happily be averted. This shows that the people don't want any war if it can possibly be avoided, and don't we know that a grateful people can but thank God for Wilson if there is still in "watchful waiting" the power that shall prevent any more bloodshed than we already have?

SUPERIOR NORTH CAROLINA CHEESE.

The Charlotte Observer appreciates the meaning of introducing cheese making into Western North Carolina, and the whole State will appreciate the larger meaning in the successful operation of cheese factories, creameries and packing houses. There is really more potentiality in the livestock industry than in any other development that could possibly be promoted in the South. Cheese making is one of its possibilities, and thus The Observer refers to that new industry in the Western portion of the State:

"The building of cheese factories in the mountain districts goes on apace. One of the most successful ventures is the Cove Creek Co-Operative Cheese Factory, at Vilas, and its product is a little bit on the advanced order, being known as the American full-cream cheese. Mr. J. B. Horton, the secretary and treasurer of the company, has forwarded The Observer a sample of the product, having been inspired to this action by a suggestion from Mr. Hugh Chatham, who had come across some of the Cove Creek product and found it such an excellent article that he felt The Observer should be apprised of what is being done by that factory. The development of cheese making in the North Carolina mountains dates from the first efforts, about three years ago. The cheese factory has been proving a source of revenue to the farmers and at the same time it has been a great encouragement in the promotion of the live stock industry. Mr. Chatham thinks there should be 100 of these factories in Ashe county and that there is room for the operation of as many more in the balance of the cheese making territory. The North Carolina people engaged in this industry have applied business methods to the operation of the creameries and to the marketing of the product, but more important than all, they made sure that their product would be of a standard that would fully meet the State and Federal requirements. It has followed that the North Carolina made cheese finds a ready market and is in such demand as to encourage an increased output through the multiplication of factories."

What The Observer says in the foregoing ought to be read with more than ordinary gratification throughout North Carolina. There is no reason why Western North Carolina should monopolize cheese making in this State, or that the mountain counties should outstrip our eastern counties in carrying on the creamery industry or in producing cattle, hogs and sheep. We have been in a seacoast country where the cheese and creamery industries constitute the greatest means of wealth.

OVERLOOK THE ECONOMICS

The Norfolk Virginian-Pilot gives the protective tariff advocates something to think about in the way of economics as against the politics to which some people of the country falsely attribute prosperity. Theories do not count much in face of the actual fact that anything which restricts trade lessens our ability to do commerce or business.

Recently Mr. F. A. Vanderlip, of the National City Bank, of New York, made a statement before the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers to the effect that inasmuch as we must buy abroad an increasing volume of the foreign commodities that we need and which we can never economically produce, we should seek to pay for them in finished goods which represent the highest achievements of our labor, rather than send to Europe our raw materials.

Thereupon a Republican paper says: "Then the mills turning out these finished goods must have protective rates of duty or pay their workmen the European and Oriental rates of wages." The Virginian-Pilot shows how absurd such a thing would be. A protective tariff on the kind of goods which we are to export would not protect labor. It would only increase the price of such goods as we produce and consume in this country, while the exporters may sell them abroad at or below the cost of production, as they have done in the past. Selling American goods high in America and cheap in Europe would be an awful kind of trade for us as well as our working people. If we can not make a profit on what we export, we had better not export at all.

Manufacturing cheap goods for Europe certainly will not help American labor.

ALL ABOUT SCOTLAND COUNTY.

We now know more about Scotland county than we ever knew before, because we have had an opportunity to get better acquainted with that splendid North Carolina county through the anniversary edition of the Laurinburg Exchange, published at the thriving county seat. Editor J. P. Wiggins and Associate Editor Mac Cameron got a move on them because of the 34th anniversary of The Exchange and the 16th birthday of the county, but they made of it the occasion of bringing the county of Scotland and the young city of Laurinburg to public notice in away to forcefully impress every one who has read the paper.

The edition was a 20-page paper containing matter emphasizing the importance, achievements and prospects of the county and the county seat. County and town history heretofore unwritten was published in attractive form, and certainly everybody who has read the paper not only appreciates the enterprise of the publishers but places high value upon every feature of the publication. The publicity given to Scotland is inestimable, and as the means of doing the work so effectually, The Exchange proves its own great value to its city and county.

The Star professes to partiality for both the people and the potentialities of Scotland county, a sweet sixteener that has put many an older county to the blush. The Exchange claims that Scotland is "first" in a whole lot of things and we are ready to believe whatever is said of a section of such exceptionable adaptabilities and advantages. Indeed, there is so much that can be said about this incomparable portion of the State that we have to resist the temptation to fill up this entire page of The Star.

The Allentown Democrat says: "General Wingate puts delay and confusion up to General Wood at Washington. General Wood is the man who was made a great soldier over night." Teddy did it, so he will never criticise the head of the army for what he can shift off on a Democratic administration. Nevertheless, Uncle Hiram, this same head of the army and the army itself were turned over by the Republicans to the Democrats. People would not stop to think about that, if the Republicans knew enough to keep their mouths shut so they wouldn't give themselves away.

CURRENT COMMENT.

The North Carolina Bar Association at its annual meeting at Wrightsville Beach last week went on record as favoring increasing the number of Superior Court judges to 32, the number recommended by the commission appointed by Gov. Craig some time ago, and reducing the number of recorders' courts. The legislative and reform committee of the association, of which committee Mr. A. W. McLean, of Lumberton, is chairman, recommended that the number of judges be increased, and that the number of recorders' courts be decreased, but did not go so far as the commission, that is, it did not say how many more judges there should be nor just how many recorders' courts there should be. The commission recommended that the recorders' courts be cut to 15, these to be in the principal cities. There are a good many people who think that if the judges would work as hard as most folks have to work there would be no need of more judges, but The Robesonian believes that emergency judges would serve a good purpose. The recorders' courts are in favor in Robeson after having been tried out in this county for several years.—Lumberton Robesonian.

Chief Justice Clark and two of his friends have sent The Observer a printed circular, being a copy of his interview in The Wilmington Star, which had provoked the criticism of Governor Craig—all concerning the governor's appointment of a woman as his private secretary. Judge Clark submits it as his notion of an "unqualified approval" of the appointment, and wants The Observer to "read it and judge." We have gone over it a couple of times and find that it is just what Judge Clark says it is—an unqualified endorsement—but one into which an unnecessary irritant was injected. Governor Craig had made the simple statement that his action in appointing a woman as his private secretary "did not make him a suffragist." Judge Clark takes occasion to pick up that expression as an excuse for reading Governor Craig an unnecessary lecture, and it was the irritating way in which this was done that evoked the rather stinging retort from the governor. Judge Clark provoked the governor to the suggestion that the judge, himself, had never appointed a woman to office of any kind, even though knowing that Judge Clark has no opportunity of giving appointment of any sort to a woman. It looks to us like a case of two able men making a childish spectacle of themselves before the public.—Charlotte Observer.

The country has learned to expect that when President Wilson makes an appointment to office these appointments come as the unexpected in the naming of the men who called into positions. That Governor Craig in the two latest of his appointments has taken the State by surprise will be admitted. Both win approval. Former Lieutenant Govenor Francis Donnell Winston, who was yesterday afternoon named as a judge to fill the vacancy in the Third judicial district caused by the death of Judge Peebles comes for the second time to the bench, having held that postion in 1901-1902 by appointment of Governor Aycock at the time there was an increase in the number of judicial districts. In the discharge of his official duties he demonstrated that he was possessed of the judicial temperament in a high degree. That he will adorn the bench all who know him—and he is one of the best known men in North Carolina — will most heartily agree. From his host of friends there will be many congratulations to him on the appointment. Judge Winston was not an applicant for the position, neither was it known in any large degree that he would relinquish his present position as United States Attorney for the Eastern District of North Carolin, to which he was appointed by President Wilson in 1914, to accept the appointment. Had there been any general knowledge of this there would have been a greater number to endorse him, the statement made by Governor Craig being that a number of leading men of the district and of other parts of the State had suggested the appointment, for Judge Winston is an extremely popular man, a member of one of the State's most prominent families. Francis D. Winston has been a well known figure in the public life of the State for many years, an attorney of ability, a graduate of the University of North Carolina, now a member of the executive committee of the board of trustees of that institution. He has been a member of the State Senate and House, a judge of the Superior Court, Lieutenant-Governor of the State. A Democrat, he has held high positions as a party official; a Mason, he has been Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of North Carolina. As a speaker he is among the most able and most eloquent in the State. The traditionally high characted of the bench of North Carolina is maintained in his appointment and we are confident will be conserved by him in his conduct of the courts.—Raleigh News ad Observer.

FOUR MEN FIGHT BIG SHARK

Oystermen Used Pitchforks, and One Came Near Being Bitten.

(San Francisco Chronicle.)

Measuring eight feet in length and weighing 175 pounds, a shark invaded the oyster beds in the upper reaches of the bay the other day and after fighting four men for nearly an hour was killed with pitchforks.

The shark was first noticed by Henry L. McKnew, head of the oyster company, and his foreman, Emil Peterson, when it chased a stingaree over an oyster bed fence.

By the time the shark cornered and ate the stingaree the tide had reached so far that the big fish was unable to gain open water. McKnew, Peterson and two other fishermen closed in on the shark, but the latter showed fight an dchased the quartet to high-water mark. McKnew narrowly missed being bitten by the monster.

When the tide went out still farther the shark had little or no seaway, and the men killed it with pitchforks. Rather, they so thought, for later in the day when they tethered it to a scow the shark came to life and for a second time nearly departed with a human leg.

McKnew, who has been an oysterman for 30 years, says the dead shark is the largest caught in that section of the bay since he had been in business.

Kinston, N. C., July 4.—Lenoir county will vote on a county hospital at the November election. Physicians are working for the proposed institution, which would cost probably $40,000 or $50,000. The commissioners, it was announced today, were compelled by law to authorize the election, more than the required number of signatures to a petition having been secured.

HEALTH IS WEALTH
by John B. Huber, A.M., M.D.

Health is precious, yet easily injured. Dionysius.

A Shoddy Nervous System

NERVOUS prostration or exhaustion of the nervous system is called by doctors neurasthenia or psychasthenia. Women are supposed to be the greater sufferers; and yet in a series of ten cases I recently saw reported in the medical press, nine were of men and only one of a woman.

The basis of neurasthenia is generally a neurapsthic tendency, either hereditary or acquired. The ordinary stresses and strains of life are too much for such people. The tasks the most of us rejoice in are unendurable to them; they cannot endure the hardships we glory in surmounting. They have no "get up and go" to them; they have, as one would say, a Shoddy Nervous System. If now with such a weakened nervous condition, overwork or excessive exertion of any kind is necessary for them to undergo, or if they take to excesses, or if they have been grievously injured, or a sudden fright or shock has seized upon them, or if they have come down with some serious disease from which they have recovered, either wholly or in part, then their nervous system gives out entirely and they become sufferers from neurasthenia.

These poor folk, who are greatly to be sympathized with, have headaches, especially in the back of the head and the neck; backache; they have the fatigue dyspepsia which I sometime ago described in this column; their muscles get flabby; they lose sleep; and they become mentally very irritable. Things the most of us would laugh at will on the moment send them up in the air. Neurasthenia is a chronic trouble; the sufferers are sometimes as well up to par as the rest of us, and then again they are way down in the dumps. Before 40 the ailment can always be recovered from; after two-score not so easily.

The Weir Mitchell rest cure is the best; but it is an expensive luxury. Spinal douches at bedtime are excellent; and bring on sleep. Baths, massage, electricity, exercise in the open are all appropriate. At least six tumblers of water should be drunk during the day. Constipation must be prevented; and the diet must be light and easily digested. Medicines must be absolutely avoided.

HOUSEMAID'S KNEE.

M. M. S. writes: Something over six months ago my son, 26 years old, and a farmer, bumped his right knee on a plough. He did not tell me anything about it until a month or more after. There was then a swelling, a kind of wind puff, the size of half a large apple. It did not then hurt him although it had hurt him furiously when he first hit it on the plough.

Answer: Your boy has a "bursitis" such as housemaids get from constant pressure on the knee while scrubbing. There is a great deal of fluid ("water on the knee") in such cases. The things you have done (adhesive plaster and so on) are good. But not enough. A doctor must insert an "aspirating needle" and draw off the fluid. Then the adhesive strapping will be right. Don't delay lest an abscess develops.

INDICAN.

I. writes: 1. What can be done when indican is in the urine? 2. I am very active, but rheumatic, have pain in the back, between the shoulder blades near the spine. I have numb fingers; chest and throat inclined to tenderness. 3. What will prevent dry throat day and night; and opening of mouth during sleep?

Answer: 1. Take one-sixth grain of podophyllin at night. 2. The original focus or point of infection in rheumatism is likely to be in the mouth or about the tonsils. 3. Mouth breathing is due to nasal or pharyngeal catarrh, or to unhealthy tonsils. You should be examined for these conditions.

COLD WATER.

L. K. writes: Does a cloth wrung out in cold water and quickly gone over the body in the morning take the place of a cold plunge?

Answer: Yes. But the plunge is better in the summer.

This column is devoted to disease prevention; to physical and mental hygiene; to domestic, industrial and public sanitation; to the promotion of health; efficiency and long life. The latest developments in medical science will be presented. Questions of general interest will be answered here, space permitting—all others by mail if stamped return envelope is enclosed. Requests for personal diagnosis or treatment cannot, however, be considered in any way.

STREET CAR MEN WENT ON STRIKE YESTERDAY

No Cars Run on City Lines, But Beach Schedules Maintained.

Conductors and Motormen of Tidewater Power Company Walk Out Mayor Offers Good Offices in Settling Differences.

With 50 conductors and motormen, members of the recently organized local branch of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Motormen and Conductors, off duty because of failure of the Tidewater Power Company to meet their demands regarding the operation of cars with a one-man system, Wilmington had the unique and novel experience yesterday of observing a Fourth of July without any street cars running on the lines in the city, but the cars were operated to Wrightsville Beach on slightly delayed schedules by using substitute motormen and non-union men.

While the cars to the beach were run as usual, there were not the usual large crowds, especially during the morning, but a great crowd of a thousand or more people congregated at Front and Princess streets and in a good humored manner jeered and cheered the men running the beach cars when they came in and departed. The crowd while constantly making demonstrations, attempted no violence, although last night there were a few rocks and several eggs thrown at cars. However, it was stated by policemen that these were thrown by boys and not by men.

No Negotiations Made.

While no attempt was made by either side yesterday to adjust the differences existing between the Tidewater Power Company and its conductors and motormen, Mayor P. Q. Moore has invited representatives of both sides to a conference to be held at his office today at noon. It was not known last night whether or not this invitation would be accepted.

The crowd gathered at Front and Princess streets was constantly augmented during the day until last night there were several thousand, many of these being spectators. Those engaged in making demonstrations were for the most part sympathizers of the strikers and it was noticeable that the conductors and motormen were present largely as spectators.

The heavy downpour of rain which came shortly after 11 o'clock last night dispersed the crowds and it was not expected that any trouble would materialize, although the striking conductors and motormen have expressed themselves as fixed in their determination to stick to their request that the Tidewater Power Company enter into an agreement not to put on a one-man system.

Mr. A. B. Skelding, general manager, and other officials and employes of the Tidewater Power Company spent the entire day looking after the operation of the cars, taking their turn in running the beach cars when necessary.

The Car Men's Side.

Mr. L. Riordan, district organizer for the American Federation of Labor and treasurer of the Wilmington Trade Council, and leader of the members of the organization of street car men, when asked for a statement as to the cause of the walk out said: "The cause of the controversy is the one man system of operating cars. The company sought to impose this system upon us.

"The proposed agreement, which was presented to the company by a committee," said Mr. Riordan, "provided that for the period of one year two men should be employed by the company in operating cars with the exception that on what is known as the Red Cross line, running from Third and Wright streets to Sunset Park, the company was conceded the right to use one man on this line. It was also provided that on the light to Wrightsville Beach the number of men should be the same as in the past. As to conferences, we gave the company plenty of time for them, as negotiations were opened with it on June 1."

Mr. Riordan denied that any official from the headquarters of the National Association of Street Railway Motormen and Conductors, of which the Wilmington street car employes now on strike are members, was expected to arrive either last night or this morning, and declared that he is in charge with full power to act, and stated further that the street car men would hold out until the company granted their demands.

Mr. MacRae's Statement.

When seen about 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon at his office by a represenrepresentative of The Star, Mr. Hugh MacRae, president of the Tidewater Power Company, made the following statement:

"Our position was that we were quite willing to confer with the men and discuss all matters of any particular interest to them, and were glad to note that there weren't any apparent differences that couldn't have been adjusted by reasonable investigation and an effort to see the points involved from a mutual point of view.

"But members of the committee placed before us on the morning of July 3rd this proposed agreement which they wished signed, and said that they were not willing to further delay the matter, and that it must be executed by 12 o'clock last night.

"They made the statement that they were satisfied with their wages. Our point of view was that the things they were directly interested in were already in effect or could be easily adjusted, but there were matters which involved the rights of the company that could not be conceded.

"The whole situation was made very clear to the men, and we feel that they took unwise advice when they followed the plan adopted today."

Mayor Offers Service.

Mayor P. Q. Moore said last night that he had offered his services in helping in any way possible towards settling the differences now existing between the Tidewater Power Company and its employes and had extended an invitation to the representatives of both sides to attend a conference in his office today at noon. Mayor Moore expressed the hope that an amicable adjustment of the differences might be arrived at as early as possible. In inviting representatives of the interests concerned to attend the conference, he stated that he was simply striving as the chief executive of the city to bring about an understanding that would clear up the differences.

Mayor Moore last night shortly before 9 o'clock addressed the crowd of several thousand people which had assembled in the vicinity of Front and Princess street in which he asked ev-

ATHLETIC EVENTS AT BEACH

Over Two Hundred Entries in Different Features at Wrightsville Beach. The Prize Winners.

There was a large crowd present yesterday afternoon to witness the athletic events at Lumina on Wrightsville Beach, in which there were 230 entries. This was one of the principal features of Fourth of July at the Beach which in spite of the threatening clouds and the showers which fell at intervals, was a splendid success.

Those acting as officers were as follows: Marshall, Mr. J. P. Seitters; referee, Mr. J. B. Huntington; clerk, Mr. C. Walton Johnson; scorer, Mr. George Diebert; judges, Messrs. D. C. North, B. A. Thees and R. H. Griffin; linesman, Mr. John Hazlehurt.

There were three prizes offered for each event, the first being five round trip tickets to the beach, the second three round trip ticket and the third one round trip ticket.

The winners in the different athletic events were as follows:

One hundred yard dash (under 110 pounds)—First, George Jones; second, H. Green; third, H. Williams.

One hundred yard dash(110 to 135 pounds)—First, R. Craig; second, R. M. Williams; third, Charles Jones.

One hundred yard dash (over 135 pounds)—First, P. H. Jewett; second, A. M. Scales; third, R. L. Snakenberg.

Girls' flag race (under 12 years)—First, Elsie Mills; second, Valeria Solomon; third, Aline Johnson.

Potato race (under 100 pounds)—First, George Jones; second, C. Hill; third, H. Williams.

Potato race (110 pounds and over)—First, Grainger; second, Craig; third, Williams.

Running broad jump (under 110 pounds)—First, George Jones, 14 feet 3 inches; second, H. Green, 1 4feet 2 1-2 inches; third, C. Bell, 13 feet 9 inches.

Running broad jump (over 110 pounds)—First, Snakenberg, 17 feet 6 inches; second, C. C. Cashwell, 15 feet 3 inches; second, H. Green, 14 feet 2 1-2

Canoe race through surf (one-half mile out and back)—First, Strange and Lord; second, Taylor and Morrison; third, Fenley and Clark.

Swimming race (under 110 pounds)—First, C. Hill; second, R. Pierce; third, George Jones.

Swimming race (110 pounds and over)—First, Glenn Evans; second, A. Scales; third, J. Bonitz.

BLINDNESS PREVENTABLE.

Public Educated as to Causes the Best Preventive.

That half of all blindness can be prevented determines the field of work likewise the purpose of the organization known as the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness. This committee is working to create by agitation and education a condition of watchfulness on the part of the public that will prevent the crime of needlessly letting children go blind. Some of the causes of preventable blindness or impaired vision as pointed out by the committee are congenital defects, babies' sore eyes or ophthalmia neonatorum, eye injuries in childhood, wood alcohol poisoning, occupational diseases, constant eye-strain, measles, scarlet fever, and other dangerous diseases.

The committee believes that educated common sense on the part of the public that knows the difference between prevention and cure will be the most effective means of preventing blindness, and it is just this educational work that the committee has undertaken.

North Carolina is interested in the national campaign for the conservation of vision to the extent that at a recent meeting of the State Medical Society a special committee on Conservation of Vision was appointed. This committee has made definite plans for educational work through the presentation to the public at large of lectures, exhibits, etc., and are paving the way for the introduction of a bill at the next legislature providing for the free distribution of a prophylactic against baby blindness, the licensing of midwives, and the early reporting of opthalmia neonatorum on the part of physicians.

PIERRE MANNING DEAD

Only Son of Mrs. P. B. Manning Passes Away in Washington, D. C.

Many friends of the family and of the young man himself heard in Wilmington yesterday with much sorrow of the death of Pierre B. Manning, only son of the late P. B. Manning, of the Wilmington bar, and of Mrs. Kate T. Manning, which occurred at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Manning in Washington, D. C.

The young man was 17 years of age and although he had been an invalid practically all his life, the immediate cause o this death was pneumonia. Notwithstanding his deep affliction Pierre was a bright little fellow, a patient sufferer and the news of his passing will be heard with grief by many who knew him when the famfly resided in Wilmington and with the deepest of sympathy for those who are now called upon to bear their great sorrow. The young man is survived by his mother, Mrs. Kate T. Manning, one sister, Miss Katherine Manning, and a host of other relatives.

Accompanied by the deeply bereaved mother, his sister and his aunts, Mrs. Chas. E. Borden and Mrs. S. W. Travers, of Richmond, Va., the body will be brought to Wilmington on the train from the north this morning and the funeral will be conducted at 5 o'clock this afternoon from the residence of the young man's uncle, Mr. Edward T. Talor, No. 509 Orange street, and the interment will be in the family lot in Oakdale cemetery where lie the remains of his father, who was so highly esteemed in Wilmington. The services will be conducted by Rev. J. M. Wells, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian church, this city.

STATION MASTERS APPOINTED

Capt. J. E. Clayton Transferred to Day Duty—Mr. Southerland Named.

Their many friends and the public generally will be interested to know that with the retirement of Capt. John M. Walker by the Atlantic Coast Line on July 1st, Capt. John E. Clayton, formerly night station master at Wilmington, has been transferred to day duty, vice Captain Walker, and that in Captain Clayton's stead as night station master, the transportation department has appointed Mr. Chauncey G. Southerland, a clever and popular young Wilmingtonian, who has had much railroad experience, but who has recently been in other business. The change has already taken place and friends of the two new union station executives are already congratulating them upon their new assignments.

WILMINGTON OBSERVED THE FOURTH AS USUAL

General Cessation of Business Throughout the City.

Several Thousand Visit Wrightsville Beach While Immense Crowd Went to Carolina Beach. An Added Feature.

Wilmington celebrated the "Glorious Fourth" yesterday about as usual, although there were one or two added features that had not been previously announced that made the day a little more interesting than usual for those looking for variety. Business was practically suspended and but few places in the city were open. Several thousand people visited Wrightsville Beach during the day and last night, while the steamer Wilmington carried three big crowds down to Carolina Beach and hundreds went to this resort in automobiles for an outing.

As usual in Wilmington on the Fourth, it rained, but fortunately not enough to cause any serious inconvenience. The day for the most part was delightful in every way and left nothing to be desired. Showers fell during the morning and early afternoon. It was cloudy all day but no rain fell in the late afternoon or in the evening.

The lack of street car service in the city doubtless kept many people at home, who otherwise would have had an outing but those having automobiles, of whom there are many hundreds in the city, went out for rides over the splendid country roads in the county.

The day for the most part was a quiet one, although last night a few giant cannon crackers, which was somewhat of an innovation for Wilmington on the "Fourth". A "tin pan" brigade marched around the streets for a while last night making much nerve racking noise.

The chief center of attraction for residents of the city was at Front and Princess streets where there was a big crowd gathered throughout the day as a token of their interest in the strike of the street car men. Hundreds of others came merely to see if anything was going to happen and to be in the crowd.

Wilmington on the whole enjoyed her "Fourth" immensely and there was little evidence of a spirit of other than good fellowship among the people of the city-by-the-sea, who always observe holidays in a whole-hearted manner.

There were several hundred excursionists who came in on the regular trains during the day to spend a while at the beaches and to enjoy the delightful hospitality of Wilmington people. There were not as many visitors in the city as usual, however.

Quite a large crowd went from Wilmington to Lake Waccamaw to attend the big celebration that was held there, this being an annual occasion. More than 500 people from the city and intermediate points went over on the morning train and returned last night.

The steamer Wilmington carried a thousand people to Carolina Beach on her three trips yesterday. While the exact number was not known last night there were several thousand people who visited Wrightsville Beach during the day and last night. Many hundreds went down to Wrightsville Sound in automobiles and took the cars there.

WAR TAXES ARE DUE

Government Requires That Dealers Make Payment of Them This Month.

The fact that the special war tax that the government has levied on commission merchants, brokers, dealers in tobaccos, keepers of pool rooms and many other enterprises, is now due and must be paid before July 31st, has nothing whatever to do with the Mexican situation. It simply means that July begins the fiscal year for the government and these taxes are due and payable at that time. However, a month is given for dealers to make payment and after that time they are liable to indictment under the Federal statutes.

The levying of these special taxes was caused by the European war which made necessary the collection of additional revenue because of the cutting off of imports into this country.

Deputy Collector J. R. Kennedy, of this city, has charge of the collection of these taxes in Wilmington and vicinity. However, the tax may be sent directly to District Collector J. W. Bailey at Raleigh.

RECEIVES HIGH PRAISE.

Lt. Col. Lucas Lauded for Transforming Field Into Camp.

Friends in Wilmington of Lt. Col. W. VanC. Lucas, in command of the New York National Guard engineering forces, who was for a number of years a resident of this city in charge of the Carolina Trucking Development Company, will learn with interest that his efficient work in preparing Camp Whitman, N. Y., for the mobilization of the State troops has received wide attention in military circles. An account of this work appeared in a recent issue of the Engineering Record and was reproduced in the New York World.

Camp Whitman is in Dutchess county, about 100 miles up the Hudson river from New York City. It is located on an 823-acre tract of rolling land, which with transit, level and carloads of lumber and excavation tools has been transformed in a very short space of time into a tented city by the engineering corps to take care of the influx of 18,000 state troops.

Hit by Mail Truck.

Friends of Capt. J. R. Williams, of the Southern Express Co., will be gratified to know that he was not seriously injured as the result of being struck by the motor mail delivery truck at the union station yesterday afternoon between 3 and 4 o'clock. The truck was being backed up for transfer of the mail at the station and Capt. Williams was about his duties at the express office. There was some miscalculation as to the way the truck was headed by the driver or Capt. Williams with the result that the express official was knocked down, but fortunately he was not seriously injured and went to his rooms at The Orton apparently none the worse for his experience.

—Among yesterday's arrivals at the Imperial Hotel were E. C. Bass, Sanford, L. H. Thigpen and R. W. Thigpen, Burgaw; Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Potter, Folkston; R. K. Smith, Hamlet, and Messrs. Alex., Charles and Walter Campbell, of Tar Heel.

DEALERS TO MAKE PROTEST

Candy Stores and Fruit Shops Prohibited by New Ordinances From Opening on Sundays.

The sum and substance of the recent revised form of Wilmington Sunday regulation ordinances as adopted by City Council, which become effective next Sunday, is that under the provisions all candy and fruit stores will have to close on Sundays. Inasmuch as Sunday is one of the biggest days for business for these concerns, it is expected that a vigorous protest will be made on the grounds that the regulations are discriminatory to them.

The new ordinances allow restaurants, cafes and drug stores to open for business on Sundays, not only for carrying on their usual business but also to sell tobacco and cigars and to operate soft drink stands. However, it is expressly provided that in the case of cafes and restaurants the operation of a soft drink stand or the selling of cigars and tobacco shall not constitute their principal business but must be a "side line" as it were.

The new regulations also prohibit the sale of ice cream in less quantities than one quart by ice cream dealers and then only when delivered to customers. The regulation do not prohibit hotels and boarding houses from being open on Sunday nor do they prohibit the sale and delivery of ice.

The Supreme Court has held that drug stores that are allowed to remain open on Sundays on the ground that the prescription of medicines is a public necessity, may also sell other goods and that it is not a violation of a Sunday selling ordinance.

Allowing the drug stores to sell soft drinks, tobacco and other things that may be classed as luxuries while at the same time closing up the candy shops and fruit stores is maintained by the latter to be discrimination while the druggists declare that they would be glad enough to close up on Sundays but that the public demands that they stay open in order to dispense medicines and that as a matter of fact there is no way by which they can close up as folks get sick on Sunday as well as on other days. However, the receipts from this class of business would not justify their staying open, they declare, and as a consequence they are compelled to sell other stuff in order to "get by."

The cafes and restaurants claim that the operation of soft drink stands and the selling of tobacco and cigars is a necessary part of their business, as the patrons demand it.

Answering the charge that the closing of the candy shops and fruit stores and other similar enterprises is discrimination, those endorsing the new regulations agree frankly that it is so but declare that there is no way to avoid it except to put on the lid still tighter or else let things be "wide open." Having the lid on, they submit, is vastly preferable to having everything open on Sundays and if a choice must be made between the two extremes, their position is for a closed town on Sundays.

That the matter of Sunday selling may be presented again to City Council this morning at its regular weekly session is not altogether improbable. However, a majority of the board seems to be of the opinion that the line has got to be drawn somewhere and that it has been drawn in a way that will work the less hardships possible to dealers while at the same time protecting the sanctity of the Sabbath.

Several Wilmington lawyers have been retained by clients with instructions to fight the new regulations to the limit and there has been considerable "reading up" on the statutes during the past few days. Some of the attorneys contend that the new ordinance is not valid largely because of the evident discrimination. "Let there be justice and feed all out of the same spoon" is their motto.

STATE EXAMINATIONS FOR TEACHERS TO BE HELD HERE.

Prof. Washington Catlett Will Conduct Tests in Wilmington.

Prof. Washington Catlett, superintendent of public instruction of New Hanover county, states that examinations will be held in Wilmington, July 13th and 14th, for teachers who want State High School certificates and five-year State certificates. No teacher will be allowed to take any part of the State examinations, Prof. Catlett says, who has not made application to the State Board of Examiners, and who has not received from this board explicit directions as to the subjects required.

The schedule for the examinations for State High School certificates specifies that on Thursday, July 13th, the subjects shall be as follows: Theory and practice of teaching, school law of North Carolina, English, American history and English history. On the day following examinations will be given in arithmetic, algebra, plane geometry, Latin, French, German, (only one language required), general science, physics, physical geography agriculture, botany and chemistry. Only one of the sciences are required.

For the five-year State certificate the subjects for examinations on Thursday, July 13th, will be: Theory and practice of teaching, school law of North Carolina, spelling, drawing, reading, arithmetic, language and composition, On the following day examinations will be given in English grammar, geography, physiology and hygiene, history of North Carolina, history of United States, civil government and agriculture.

In the event that part of the examination required by the State board comes on Thursday and a part on Friday, the applicant will have to arrange to be on hand at the time the subjects are scheduled, in order to prevent the possibility of the questions having been made public before any applicant has had opportunity to take the examinations on any particular subject.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING

Messrs. Sam and Horace Springer Have Trying Experience Yesterday.

The rudder or steering gear of their boat disabled, the craft itself all but swamped by the heavy sea running at the time, Messrs. Samuel J. Springer and Horace Springer, of this city, had a most trying experience in Moore's Inlet at Wrightsville Beach, just as the storm swept in over the ocean front at Wrightsville yesterday afternoon about 1:30 o'clock. But for the timely arrival of Capt. Wells, of one of the fishing schooners at the beach, one or both of them might probably have lost their lives in the surf.

The gentlemen named left Wilmington about 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning to take the yacht around the point to Wrightsville Beach, where their families are spending the summer. While off Carolina Beach earlier in the morning the steering gear of the boat went wrong, and they did not reach Wrightsville until about the hour the severe storm broke over the ocean front in the early afternoon. A very heavy sea was running in the inlet at the time, and despite the seaworthiness of the craft, it was soon swamped and both gentlemen had to take to the water, where they were engaged in a manful effort to save the boat and themselves when Capt. Wells saw their predicament and bravely went to their assistance in the teeth of the storm that was just then breaking.

The boat was later brought in, and both the young men, after changing to dry raiment, were apparently no worse for their trying experience with wind and wave.

Miss Katherine Johnson, who has been visiting Miss Pauline Williams, of this city, has returned to her home in Thomasville. Miss Johnson was formerly a member of the faculty of Meredith College, Raleigh. Her singing at the Baptist Seaside Assembly was one of the main features of each day"s musical programme. It will be of interest to her friends nere to learn that Miss Johnson will go to New York City this fall to study voice in a private studio.

WINSTON-SALEM MAN SAVED FROM DEATH

J. E. Erwin Says Wonderful Remedy Brought Him Astonishing Relief.

J. E. Erwin of Winston-Salem, N. C., was for a long time the victim of serious disorders of the stomach. He tried all kinds of treatment and had many doctors.

One day he took a dose of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and was astonished at the results. The help he sought had come. He wrote:

"I am satisfied through personal use of the life-saving powers of your Wonderful Remedy. You have saved my life. I could have lived but a few weeks more had it not been for your remedy. I am inclosing a list of friend sufferers who ought to have some of your remedy."

Mayr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be returned.

eryone to do his part in avoiding trouble. Capital and labor should go hand in hand, he declared, as each is necessary to the other. He expressed regret that anything had happened to break the usual amicable relations that had heretofore existed between the Tidewater Power Company and its employes, the differences now existing be there had been much disturbance as result of the demonstrations throughout the day that nobody had been hurt. He appealed to the crowd to disperse and go to their homes for the night. The mayor spoke from the porch in front of one of the buildings on Princess street near Front and was frequently cheered. The crowd was in a good humor and listened attentively and when the mayor had finished many obeyed his injunction and went home but a majority of those preset preferred to remain for a while longer.

Crowd Gathered Early.

Early in the day a crowd had assembled at Front and Princess streets but no violence was offered to substitute motormen or non-union men other than to yell "scabs" upon the arrival and departure of each car for Wrightsville Beach, which line was operated on its usual 30-minute schedule throughout the day and evening. It was noticeable that while many of the striking motormen and conductors were in the crowd that they did not take any prominent part in the demonstrations and indeed many and perhaps a majority of them were present simply as but a mapority of those present preness enterprises in the city, there was a great crowd of sympathizers.

During the day this was the only congregating places for strikers and other interested persons. From early morning until late at night, pickets were on duty to shout vociferously "scabs" at the substitute and non-union motormen and conductors, who while probably annoyed at the epithets made no attempt to reply to them.

Pickets of the street car men and their sympathizers were busy as bees going through the crowd and distributing tags on which was printed in large red letters, "Everybody Walks." In this they were successful to some extent, as several hundred pinned them to the lapels of their coats. Someone with a humorous turn of mind pinned them to the collars of several dogs at the terminal of the beach line to the amusement of the onlookers.

Although the crowd made no demonstration during the day in the way of personal violence to the motormen and conductors, a dozen or more of the police force and several deputy sheriffs were on duty at Front and Princess streets nearly all day to guard against any untoward happening and to keep a line open to the entrances to the street cars.

During the interim between the arrival of cars, groups of four and five gathered to discuss the situation seriously or in a joking manner as the humor happened to strike them, for the most part, however, it was a cheerful crowd and laughter and joking was the dominating note of their remarks.

Late in the afternoon a dozen or more men and boys formed a "tin pan" brigade which marched up and down the streets, making a medley of noises by beating on pans. Occasionally a giant cannon cracker would be exploded in celebration of the Fourth.

The first violence of the evening occurred at about 9 o'clock when a car returning from the beach well filled with passengers was rocked by three boys who were standing between Fifth and Sixth streets on Princess street. Two rocks fell inside the car and a piece of watermelon rind struck one of the passengers. On the return trip of the car to the beach, County Officer H. Mack Godwin took up a position on the front step of the car and Deputy Sheriff Chas. Keen stood on the rear step, with a view to capturing the offenders if they should attempt to rock the car again. Nothing happened on the trip down. Passengers stated that the persons who rocked the car ran up Sixth street after hurling their missiles. They were not apprehended.

Some of the members of the crowd on the streets said to have been boys, armed themselves with eggs, apparently none too fresh, and upon the arrival of the 11 o'clock car sent several of these flying towards passengers. A man and one or two women were hit by the eggs. Another man to be "egged" was Mr. T. J. Baird, superintendent of transportation for the Tidewater Power Company. The crowd was so thickly massed together that it was impossible for the officers to find out who was guilty of the indiscretion.

The crowd had shown no signs of dispersing at 11 o'clock and some few members of it were evidently becoming restless. Somebody managed to "grease" the tracks on Princess, between Fourth and Fifth streets, but only for a short distance.

It was thought best by the officers that the cars stop at Fifth street instead of Front and the 11:30 car was stopped there, but the 12 o'clock car came through as usual. In the meantime a heavy downpour of rain, which drenched many of those assembled on the streets, particularly those who had gone to Fifth street to meet the incoming car at 11:30 o'clock, and this had the effect of sending practically everybody home. There were still a hundred or more people at Front and Princess streets at midnight but the demonstrations had ceased.

Late yesterday afternoon Sheriff S. P. Cowan visited Judge W. P. Stacy at his office in the Southern building. When seen after the sheriff had left Judge Stacy was asked what had occurred at the conference. He replied that no conference had been held as a matter of fact, and that Sheriff Cowan had simply asked him for some advice. He stated that he declined to advise the sheriff, as such a course would have been highly improper in view of the fact that he might have to pass on the acts of parties to the controversy in the event that trouble should occur.

Sheriff Cowan said he had gone to see Judge Stacy, in the absence of the solicitor, for a little personal advice with a view to securing any protection that might be needed for the public. It is understood that the sheriff, as chief peace officer of the county, wished a court order to secure compensation for extra deputies in case it should be necessary to swear them in. Although one of the deputy sheriffs is laid up with a broken arm, only one extra deputy was assigned to duty and he is one who frequently helps out in case of need, although not regularly employed on a salary. Owing to the size of the crowd at Front and Princess streets, Chief of Police N. J. Williams kept from eight to ten officers on duty at this point part of the day and most of the night.

Although there was a big crowd in evidence at the beach terminal, many of them were simply Fourth of July celebrators. Some few of them, notably the younger men and boys, contented themselves with jeering the appearance of Tidewater employes as they showed themselves at the windows of the transportation office at this point, and once in a while shouting "scab" at them.

Mr. Joseph C. Colgan, member of the executive board of the Amalgamated Association of Street & Electrical Railway Employes of America, who was active in organizing the local union of the street car men and who was expected to return to Wilmington on July 1, has written from Chicago that he finds it impossible to return. Although it is expected that some other National official of the order will come to Wilmington to advise the members of the union in the conduct of the strike, reports on this subject were conflicting. It was stated last night that the vice president of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Motormen & Conductors of America would arrive in Wilmington this morning but this was not confirmed.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS

—Among the arrivals at the Orton yesterday were Gray Craven, Abbottsburg; E. Phifer, Clarkton; O. K. Knowles, Mt. Olive; E. A. King, Acme; R. M. Allen, Bolton; J. F. Parker, Fayetteville; I. H. Moore, Goldsboro; D. U. Evans, Whiteville; C. T. Smart, Charlotte, and S. M. Watrous, Oxford.

—Among the arrivals at the Hotel Wilmington yesterday were E. M. Nance, Fair Bluff; W. L. Brown, Wilson; T. J. Edwards, Bolton; E. A. Daniel, Washington; R. B. Gore, Bolton; J. W. Rowell, Waxhaw; James B. McGurney, Fort Caswell; Geo. C. Bishop, Currie, and Horace Harrison, Franklin.

LOCAL DOTS

—Messrs. L. A. Justice and E. P. Davis were arrested last night about 10 o'clock by Policeman C. G. Jones on a charge of engaging in an affray. The two men were in the crowd at Second and Princess streets and while the accounts were conflicting seemed to have gone together because of some misunderstanding, not clearly defined, and when the officer reached them both were engaged in a tussle on the pavement. Both were recognized for their appearance before the Recorder.

R. H. BARROW AND LITTLE DAUGHTER ARE DROWNED.

Mrs. Barrow and Three Sons Witness Tragedy Near Spartanburg.

Spartanburg, S. C., July 4.—R. H. Barrow, past grand councillor of the United Commercial Travelers of North and South Carolina, and his little daughter, Jennie Sue Barrow, 13 years of age, were drowned in a small pond near the Spartanburg country club late this afternoon. Miss Barrow had waded into the pond when her father noticed that she was in distress and went to her assistance. Upon reaching her both began to sink suddenly, evidently miring in the mud and sand on the bottom. Mrs. Barrow with her three sons, all small children, witnessed the tragedy. The family had gone on a picnic for the day.

The presence of quick sand in the pond is believed by those who recovered the bodies to have been responsible for the accident.

On their return to the city they will join Mr. Alexander on a motor trip to Virginia.———Miss Eva Liddell and niece, Miss Anna Forbes Liddell, will arrive home today from Wrightsville Beach where they have been spending 10 days.———Justice Platt D. Walker and Mrs. Walker will return to Charlotte today after a stay at Wrightsville Beach. Justice Walker attended the meeting of the North Carolina Bar Association last week."

VISITING WRIGHTSVILLE BEACH ON HONEYMOON

Tarboro, N. C., July 4.—A surprise marriage of considerable interest to friends of two States occurred Wednesday, June 28, at high noon, when Mr. B. A. Steadman, of Leesville, S. C., was united in marriage to Miss Edna Earl Moore, of Macclesfield, in the Presbyterian church in Wilson, the Rev. J. B. Massey, of that city, officiating. They were no runaway couple. It is emphatically stated that this is no "war bride" affair. They left on the 1:52 train for Wrightsville Beach to join their friend, Dr. F. B. Able, and his bride, of Columbia, S. C. The young couples will spend their wedding tour at several summer resorts.

After spending part of the summer at Leesville, S. C., Mr. and Mrs. Steadman will be at home in Pine Tops, N. C.

The groom is a promising young business man and a very poplar teacher at Lexington, S C. The bride is the daughter of Mr. J. R. Moore, who lives near Macclesfield. She is familiarly known as one of Edgecombe county's best teachers.

not to be compared with the problem of setting things right "at home."

"It is when we get to that phase of the situation that I feel matters are all but hopeless," said a man of outstanding prominence in the diplomatic circles of Stockholm. "The war has gone on and on, accumulating headway and drawing nation after nation into its grasp, until I confess I cannot see how the end will come. Who will take the initiative for peace? I am convinced it cannot come from the outside. It must come from one of the belligerents, but who of the belligerent parties has been so mortally hurt as to take a defensive position in the conference by first suggesting or accepting an offer of peace?

"It is nonsense to say that the nations at war do not want peace. But they all feel there must be some sort of decision in their favor. How can the various governments face their people with empty hands? There have been no suggestions thus far of a peace that would mean 'peace' at home to all the countries now engaged in war, and unless some one can suggest such a peace I for one do not see how there can be a settlement until there shall have been a more overwhelming military advantage than either side yet has gained."

The Stockholm View.

It is difficult to find in Stockholm anyone who believes other than that the war will eventually end with German troops occupying foreign soil on every front. This view has even been expressed here by war correspondents accredited to Entente newspapers, and who, fresh from the western front, have passed through Stockholm on their way to watch the Russian campaign of the present summer. They believe that a powerful, concentrated move on all fronts by all the Allies at the same time might develop a weakness here and there in the German and Austrian lines, which would give the Allies material military advantage. But they feel that an attempt to drive the Germans back within their own borders would mean losses not to be estimated, even by the standards of the last few months at Verdun.

There is, of course, to be considered the Allied hope that the pressure of the blockade may bring Germany to terms. But in the discussion of this phase of the war here in press and in official circles a parallel often is drawn with the American Civil War. It is argued that if the Confederate States, with their poorly equipped army, lack of outside supplies and invaded territory, could withstand the Northern blockade for four years and succumb eventually only after overwhelming military reverses, it is difficult to tell how long it would require to conquer Germany by a "starvation campaign."

And yet, entirely apart from any "official" statements that may emanate from Berlin, it can be said an the authority of men recently come from the German hospital, that Germany expects to gain nothing from the war. According to no less than three of these men, whose reception here in the highest German circles left no doubt as to their standing, Germany will be content to exchange the conquered territory in France and to evacuate Belgium and Serbia in return for the German colonies overseas.

"The Total Net Result."

"As far as I can see," said one of these men, "the total net result of the war will be the creation of the Kingdom of Poland. Germany will not consent that Poland should pass back under Russian control.

"But," he exclaimed, "what a price to pay for the freedom of Poland."

"Will the people of Germany be satisfied with such a settlement?"

"There, admittedly, is the problem. Germany takes the ground that she has merely defended herself against aggression in this war. The Emperor repeatedly has said so, and this must be the explanation to the people. I, for one, am not so sure that we will not have serious political, social and economic disturbances after the war is over. But tell me, if you can, which of the belligerents will be free from similar problems? The problems of the war have been great, but to my mind the problems of peace and reconstruction after the war will find us face to face with questions far more difficult to solve than any encountered upon foreign battle fronts."

In the further consideration of peace there is widespread discussion here as to how Russia shall be appeased for the losses he ha uffered in the war. Russian sacrifices have been great and the Russian people expect material compensation. Sweden is particularly interested in seeing that Russia is appeased. Men claiming to know the Russian view have stated here that that country will be content only if given possession of Constantinople and the Dardanelles. With this natural outlet it is claimed Russia would forever be removed from the field of European politics; that her field of development then would be westward and that only Japan would have to fear her activity and her competition. On the other hand, travelers from Petrograd assert that if Russia is denied this outlet she will not remain quiet for any great length of time and the peace of Europe cannot be assured unless Russia is quiet.

Such a settlement of course, would mean that Turkey eventually would be called upon to make the greatest sacrifies nationally of all the nations engaged in the war. Bulgaria might expect something from somebody, but naturally would be bound, as would Austria, by any terms of peace dictated from Berlin.

So Stockholm views the situation.

Maternity! The Word of Words

It is written into life's expectations that motherhood is the one sublime accomplishment. And if there is anything, no matter how simple, how apparently trivial it may seem, if it can aid, help, assist or in any way comfort the expectant mother, it is a blessing. And such is a remedy called "Mother's Friend." You apply it over the stomach muscles. It is gently rubbed on the surface, and makes the muscles pliant; this relieves the strain on ligaments, natural expansion takes place without undue effect upon the nerves. And as the time approaches, the mind has gone through a period of repose, of gentle expectancy, and this has an unquestioned influence upon the future child. That this is true is evidenced by the fact that three generations of mothers have used and recommended "Mother's Friend." Ask your nearest druggist for a bottle of this splendid remedy. He will get it for you. And then write to Bradfield Regulator Co., 707 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a most interesting book of information to prospective mothers. It is mailed free. Write today. It is a book you will enjoy.

It is replete with important and timely topics such as a description of the nerves, muscles and parts involved, the strange mystery of a new baby, the law of contiguity, first pulsations, prefatory uneasiness, a maternity chart, diet list and many other subjects briefly told but of value to all women and particularly so to one who is to become a mother. It is mailed free to all who write for it.

is made of previous orders to General Trevino that Americans troops be attacked if they move east, south or west in Mexico. Apparently the communication avoids the definite diplomatic statement in that regard sought by Secretary Lansing, and substitutes an argument as to the general situation.

The note also is said to point out the principle of mediation, as suggested by various Latin-American powers, has been accepted by the de facto government and to invite the Washington administration to express its views. General Carranza believes, however, that more could be accomplished by direct negotiations between Washington and Mexico City officials than would be possible through mediation proceedings.

The War Department continued without abatement today its efforts to complete mobilization of the National Guard army at the border. It had no announcement to make as to General Pershing's decision on the offer made him yesterday which would give him command of the new military department of New Mexico. Pending his decision it is regarded as probable that General Funston will continue to administer affairs along the border from the gulf coast to Douglas, Ariz., where General Bell, commanding the Western Department, will assume jurisdiction.

CALL IS SENT OUT TO THE MEDICAL MEN OF MEXICO

Mexico City, July 4.—A call was sent out today by the federal board of health for a meeting of medical men for the purpose of forming a corps to serve in the event of a foreign war. Volunteers under 50 years of age are called for, and it is planned to form those who serve into three groups in accordance with their age and previous experience. The younger men are to serve in the emergency field hospitals while the other men will serve in hospital hadquarters and in towns.

Supplementing this call is one for women who are to receive emergency training for field service as nurses and it is further proposed to establish medical factories to offset the danger of having outside supplies cut off.

Offers have reached the army headquarters from several sections proposing the formation of "brigades of Amazons," it being said that women to the number of many thousands desire to serve in the event of war, and ask that they be trained in the manipulation of rifles. Two thousand of these women were reported to have offered their services in the state of Sonora and others in the west coast and southern states have followed their example.

ENGINEER OF TROOP TRAIN WOUNDED ON NECK BY BULLET

Nogales, Ariz., July 4.—With the arrival today of the last of the Connecticut infantry, consisting of the second battalion of the first and second regiments, the garrison here now numbers about 6,000 men.

A steel-jacketed bullet found in a car occupied by a second regiment company, led to the belief that it had been fired by a sniper. The engineer of the train, who became unconscious in his seat as the train was approaching Lordsburg, was found to have been wounded on the back of the neck. One of the enlisted men of E. company, himself a locomotive engineer, took charge of the train and brought it to Lordsburg.

A report reached here today from Mexico to the effect that 3,000 Carranza soldiers were moving north from Magdalena and Imuris to a point 20 miles south of Nogales.

MINISTER FROM SPAIN IS RECEIVED BY FIRST CHIEF

Mexico City, July 4.—Senor Padilla Bell, accredited minister of Spain to the de facto government of General Carranza, was received today by the first chief who was surrounded by the entire membership of his cabinet and an imposing array of high military officers.

The new minister presented an autograph letter from King Alfonso and in an exchange of speeches the close relationship of the two countries was pledged. The ceremony was one of the most imposing of its kind held here in years.

CALL OF COURTESY MADE TO AMERICAN REPRESENTATIVE

Mexico City, July 4.—General Pablo Gonzales arrived in this city today from Cuernavaca, the capital of the state of Morelos. It is understood that the general, who is in command of the southern army, came here for a conference with the first chief and minister of War Obregen. His arrival was preceded by the entry into the city of 4,000 Yaqui Indians who have been campaigning in the state of Pueblo and Morelos. These men were under the command of General Amaro and it is believed that they will be sent north for a campaign against bandits near the border.

Representatives of the foreign office made a call of courtesy today on James Lynn Rodgers, deputy agent of the United States, in recognition of America's Independence Day.

PREMIER BRIAND GUEST AT AMERICAN BANQUET IN PARIS

Offers Toast to the United States and President Wilson.

Paris, July 4.—Premier Briand was the principal guest at the Fourth of July banquet given tonight by the American chamber of commerce. In offering a toast to the United States and President Wilson the premier said:

"The sons of the American revolution, thrilled to the depth of their soul, feel instinctively that the present conflict is the last and most terrible convulsion of the age-long struggle between liberty and tyranny. They know that the Allies, forced violently from peace in the interests of which, notwithstanding the injustice on which it was based, they had imposed silence upon their most sacred aspiration, look forward to the dazzling promise of the full emancipation of humanity and the absolute respect of national aspirations [illegible] charter that shall free the [illegible] the tattered cohorts who in days [illegible] saved liberty on the hills of the [illegible] we couple a century and a [illegible]ater, still moved by the breath of [illegible]y and defending the same sacred [illegible]ge, the soldiers of our nation in [illegible] I cannot forget that your volun[illegible] are associated with our soldiers [illegible] that your daring aviators, as did [illegible]e heroic Chapman, living symbols of [illegible]American idealism, have carried the [illegible]ove of our cause to the extent of giv[illegible]g their lives for it.

"This new brotherhood is an evidence of devotion to identical ideals which France will not forget. Your great founder said in the heroic days in which he lived, 'the only road which leads to glory is that of justice.' Our [illegible] have faith, as you have, [illegible] that justice."

were repulsed with heavy losses. The official statement says:

"While the enemy did not repeat his attacks north of the Ancre brook, he brought forward from Mamte strong forces between the Ancre and the Somme against the front from Thiepval to LaBoisselle.

"South of the Somme he brought strong forces against the line from Barleaux to Belloy.

"His losses under our artillery and infantry fire correspond to the great number of men employed. The attacks were repulsed everywhere.

"Bitter fighting took place for possession of Hardecourt, north of the Somme. French troops which penetrated our positions there were thrown out again.

"Northwest of Ypres, west of LaBassee, and in the regions southwest of Lens, local enemy advances were repulsed.

"On the east bank of the Meuse fierce attacks against the bill batteries of Damloup were easily repulsed.

"Repeated official French reports regarding the re-capture of the Thiaumont work, and the Damloup battery are fables; also the information as to the number of prisoners taken during the events on the Somme.

"East and southeast of Amentieres, German patrols broke into British reconnoitering detachments, and near Exbruecke, west of Muelhausen (Upper Alsace into French positions. One officer and 60 men were made prisoner here.

"Nine enemy aviators were brought down, five in aerial battles, without any losses to ourselves, and four by anti-aircraft guns. Six machines put out of action, are in our hands.

The statement dealing with operations on the eastern front reads:

"Army group of Field Marshal von Hindenburg:

"Following their frequently increased artillery activity, the Russians in the evening and during the night attacked repeatedly several points between Lake Narocz and Smorgon and east of Wiszcniew. They attacked with considerable force on both sides of Smorgon, near Bobucze, northeast of Krevo, and near Sloikowschisna, southeast of Wiszcniew, without achieving any advantage but in curring heavy losses.

"Army group of Prince Leopold:

"Local center attacks at points where the Russians first succeeded in making some advances all yielded results, and we captured 13 officers and 1,888 men.

"Army group of General Von Linsingen:

"The Russians yesterday again threw strong forces, part of them recently brought up to this front, in masses against us to stay our advance, but were repulsed. Our attack gained further ground.

'Army group of General Count Von Bothmer:

"Southeast of Tlumach, our troops in a quick advance forced back the Russians on a front more than 12 1-2 miles wide and more than 5 1-4 miles deep.

"There is no change on the Balkan front."

THIAUMONT WORKS TAKEN BY GERMANS FOR FOURTH TIME

Paris, July 4.—The Thiaumont work, around which some of the bloodiest fighting of the war has taken place, has been captured by the Germans for the fourth time, according to the official statement issued by the French war office tonight.

The French have advanced south and east of Assevillers, where they have captured a wood and the village of Barleaux and Belloy-En-Santerre. They also have taken the greater part of the village of Estrees where 500 prisoners fell into our hands.

The official statement follows:

"North of the Somme the day passed quietly in the whole section occupied by the French troops.

"South of the Somme, in spite of bad weather which interferred with our operations, we extended our positions in the course of the day toward the south and east. We captured woods in the neighborhood of Assevillers and the villages of Barleaux and Belloy-En-Santerre, which we hold in entirety. Estrees also has fallen into our hands with the exception of a small part where the Germans are still resisting. In the region of Estrees alone, we took 500 prisoners.

"On the left bank of the Meuse an artillery struggle is proceeding in the region of Avacourt and Hill 304.

"On the right bank of the Meuse the Germans redoubled their efforts in the region of Thiaumont on which since midday they directed a bombardment of great violence with guns of bi gcalibre. About 2 o'clock after several assaults had been repulsed ,a massed attack was launched on the work and succeeded in capturing it for the fourth time. Our troops maintain their positions in the immediate neighborhood of the work. An intense artillery fire was directed against the enemy on Damloup and La-Laufee. No event of importance occurred on the rest of the front.

"On the night of July 3, our airmen bombarded the railroad station at Longuyon and the barracks at Challerange and Savigny and military establishments at Laon."

RUSSIANS PIERCE GERMAN LINES; CAPTURE OVER 2,700

Petrograd, via London, July 4.—In an attack on the forces of Prince Leopold, the war office announced today, the Russians have broken through two lines of German defenses in the region of Baranovichi. They captured 72 officers, 2,700 men, 11 guns and a number of machine guns. The statement follows:

"Between the Styr and the Stokhod and south of the Stokhod fierce battles continue. In the region of the Nijnaia Lipa, we are closely pressing the enemy, who is defending himself with great persistency. In the direction of Kolomea we dislodged the enemy from several positions and, pursuing him, occupied the village of Potok Tcharny. The booty taken here was four cannon and a few hundred prisoners.

"We pierced two lines of enemy works south of Tzirine, northeast of Baranovichi. The battle continues. In this fighting yesterday we captured 72 officers, 2,700 soldiers, 11 cannon and several machine guns and bomb throwers."

RUSSIAN FORCES FORMING ARC CENTERED ON LEMBERG

London, July 5. — According to special dispatches from Petrograd the steady advance of General Brussilloff's left wing, despite the desperate resistance of the Austro-Germans, indicates that in a few days his front will assume the form of a regular arc centered on Lemberg. The semi-permanent fortifications of the Austro-Germans, these despatches say, now have all been captured and destroyed on this front, where they had planned to hold the Russians, while the Italian campaign progressed. It is not believed that any formidable second or third line fortifications have been constructed behind this front.

General Brussilloff's front exceeds 300 miels in length, and his left wing is at present about 20 miles from the Galician capital.

"In this respect," comments the Post's Petrograd correspondent, "the Germans are repeating what cost the Austrians the loss of Galicia nearly two years ago. It is a correct answer to Brussilloff's movement, according to the text books, but neither then nor now are pre-conceived text book rules safely applicable to the Russians' military strategy.

"For instance, the Russians have revived methods of warfare of remote ages by unepectedly introducing cavalry and sending them against enemy trenches with satisfactory results."

PARKER URGES PROGRESSIVES TO CONTINUE THEIR FIGHT

Indicates He Will Support Neither Democrats Nor Republicans.

New Orleans, July 4.—In a telegram sent today to the third district congressional committee of the Progressive party in Louisiana, John M. Parker vice-presidential nominee, of that party, urged the Progressives to continue the fight against the Democrats and to stand by their convictions "unterrified by desertion and fearless of any opposition."

Asked if this telegram indicated he would not support either the Republican or Democratic nominees for President, but would insist on the Progressives keeping a ticket in the field Mr. Parker replied:

"I presume it does, however, I shall have a definite statement on the matter within a few days.

DAY ALONG BORDER IS WITHOUT CLASH

ers killed in the latest clash with Mexicans were reported to have reached Carrizal tonight and arrangements have been started here to hold memorial services and give the men a military funeral. It is planned that the bodies, including those of Captain Boyd [illegible]utenant Adair, shall lie in state at Fort Bliss.

For the first time in months the border was without a "real live rumor" today, though old ones were resurrected to the effect that Villa had been seen in Parral, and the Seventh and 11th cavalry regiments were leaving General Pershing's force for the border.

Washington, July 4.—President and Mrs. Wilson were among the thousands who watched a municipal fireworks display and listened to a concert by the United States Marine Band tonight in Washington monument park. All stores and government departments were closed and both houses of Congress were adjourned.

San Francisco, July 4.—Miss Olga Dorfner, of Philadelphia, won today the woman's national championship 100 yard swimming race by lowering her own American record of 1:09 3-4 to 1:08 4-5. The race was in a salt water tank.

ROOSEVELT PREFERS WAR TO PRESENT PEACE WITH MEXICO

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 4. — Theodore Roosevelt, addressing his fellow villagers, at a Fourth of July celebration here today, for the first time in several years, asserted that he preferred war to the peace that the United States is at present having with Mexico. He added that in the event of an actual declaration of war, and a call for volunteers, he would give his home folks the first opportunity to join with him in proffering their services to the government.

Colonel Roosevelt declared, however, that he would rally around him the single men and those without families dependent upon them, rather than choose promiscuously from all classes of men, as in the case of the National Guardsmen now called to the border.

His speech was very brief, and he did not mention the Presidential campaign.

The United States mine planting cruiser Baltimore came here for the celebration. The marines participated in a parade, and later visited Colonel Roosevelt at his home.

Washington, July 4.—Income taxes turned into the national treasury during the fiscal year of 1916, which ended June 30, amounted to $124,867,429, of which amount New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Massachusetts contributed more than $85,000,000. New York's corporation tax was $14,944,075 and its personal tax $30,286,604.

Washington, July 4.—A battalion of negro infantry, a field hospital company and 500 signal troops of the District of Columbia National Guard entrained tonight for the border. They were the first District guardsmen to leave.

HAS INFORMATION THAT VILLA DIED IN CHIHUAHUA

Dr. Atl, in Washington for Peace Conference, Wires Carranza.

Washington, July 4.—Dr. Atl, a Mexico City editor, here for a peace conference called by the American Union Against Militarism, telegraphed General Carranza tonight that he had secured conclusive information that Francisco Villa died several weeks ago in Chihuahua. His informants, he said, were two Villa followers he had met in El Paso, who claimed they were with their chief when he succumbed to wounds received in a fight in the Sierras with Carranza soldiers and had helped bury his body near Vaquitas or Boquita, Chihuahua. One of the Mexicans who told this story was named Gutierrez, Dr. Atl said. He urged General Carranza to investigate.

DIED.

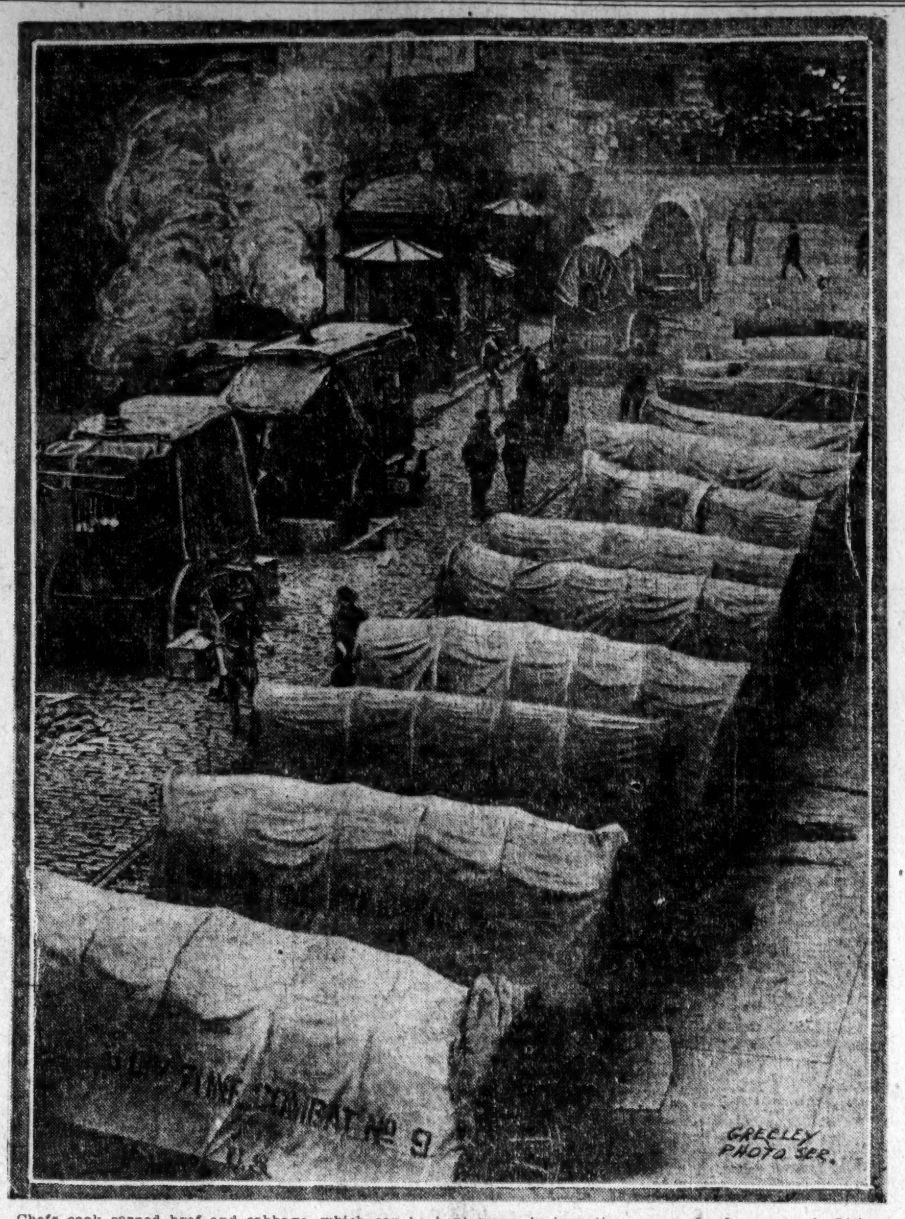
FIELD KITCHENS AND COMBAT WAGONS READY TO MOVE.



Chefs cook corned beef and cabbage, which can be kept warm in invention army heads spurned—Dishwater was being heated merrily and a plump butcher in khaki was slicing corned beef. Colonel Bates had to order an extra guard to protect the regiment's commissary department from stenographers, who wanted to sample army rations. No one was allowed to venture close unless he had business with the army cooks, who were building bonfires and stirring the big cauldrons of boiling cabbage. In an emergency the range can be used for roasting even when on the march. In the cook wagons are carried sugar, salt, spices and rations for one day. There is an ice box under the driver's seat. UGH! CALOMEL MAKES YOU SICK. DON'T STAY BILIOUS, CONSTIPATED

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Will Clean Your Sluggish Liver Better Than Calomel and Can Not Salivate.

Calomel makes you sick; you lose a day's work. Calomel is quicksilver and it salivates; calomel injures your liver.

If you are bilious; feel lazy, sluggish and all knocked out, if your bowels are constipated and your head aches or stomach is sour, just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone instead of using sickening, salivating calomel. Dodson's Liver Tone is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning because you will wake up feeling fine, your liver will be working, your headache and dizziness gone, your stomach will be sweet and bowels regular. You will feel like working. You'll be cheerful; full of energy, vigor and ambition.

Your druggist or dealer sells you a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone under my personal guarantee that it will clean your sluggish liver better than nasty calomel; it won't make you sick and you can eat anything you want without being salivated. Your druggist guarantees that each spoonful will start your liver, clean your bowels and straighten you up by morning or you get your money back. Children gladly take Dodson's Liver Tone because it is pleasant tasting and doesn't gripe or cramp or make them sick.

I am selling millions of bottles of Dodson's Liver Tone to people who have found that this pleasant, vegetable, liver medicine takes the place of dangerous calomel. Buy one bottle on my sound, reliable guarantee. Ask your druggist about me.

THEATRICAL

The Grand presents the biggest bill of the week for the money today, presenting in addition to the fourth great chapter of "The Secret of the Submarine" another great three-reel feature, big as any you have ever seen.

The fourth rousing thriller in "The Secret of the Submarine" serial is absolutely the most thrilling two reels of motion pictures you have ever in all your life witnessed. Thrill upon thrill crowd each other in rapid succession to make it impossible for you to detract your attention for an instant. Beautiful Juanita Hansen and handsome, dashing Thomas Chatterton do some of the greatest stunts of their whole career in this chapter.

Take a tip—see this today and then if you don't acknowledge it's among the greatest thrillers and interest-holders you have ever seen, call at the box office and get your money back!

"By Love Redeemed" is the title of a great three act Broadway Star Feature, direct from the Vitagraph Broadway Theatre in New York, and starring Belle Bruce, Garry McGarry, Jewell Hunt and a big bunch of Vitagraph favorites. It is the story of a brutal father who makes a mental degenerate out of his own daughter by hitting her over the head. Should this father be tried for murder? A wonderful operation restores the daughter's mentality and the father eventually reaps his reward. It's a great story done in a big way.

At the Bijou Today.

And whom do you suppose we have at the Bijou today? None other than our old time favorite, Irene Hunt, star of many of the world's greatest photoplays, who is back under the Universal banner to be starred in big Imp dramatic features.

And her leading man is none other than our own handsome, charming Hobart Henley. Also in the cast is seen Curtis Beham and Tony Mero, another new Universalite, who does some good acting in this feature.

"The Devil's Image" is a powerful two-reel story of a drug fiend's attempt to murder the woman he loves, and of his final self-destruction while under the hallucination of possessing a dual personality. You may imagine from this brief outline that it will be just as full of meat as a butcher shop, and you will not be far wrong.

"The Golden Boots" is the most remarkable single reel dramatic feature ever screened, telling of the original circumstances of a man who had a million dollars and couldn't spend a cent of it.

Then there's a rousing Nestor comedy scream, "All Most a Widow," with Neal Burns and Betty Compson.

"Saints and Sinners" at Royal.

The picturization of Henry Arthur Jones' world-famous drama, "Saints and Sinners," which comes to the Royal today on the Paramount programme, will undoubtedly be considered a notable screen achievement.

The great distinction and success that this powerful play has attained on the stages of every English-speaking country of the globe, added to its unusual pictorial possibilities, make this subject a unique photoplay offering.

But besides these details of more than ordinary interest, added importance attaches to the production because the noted British star, Peggy Hyland, appears on the screen for the first time in the role of Letty, the central figure about whom the thrilling and absorbing plot revolves.

Miss Hyland's charm and dramatic talents combine to make the characterization one to be long remembered. Altogether the extraordinary conjunction of star and play constitute to make this photo-drama one of the most important ever offered by the Famous Players on the Paramount Programme, and should not be missed by a single patron of the Royal today.

FIVE MEN INJURED.

One Probably Fatally Hurt When Automobile Dashes Into Creek.

Suffolk, Va., July 4.—In an automobile accident here this afternoon Morris Fisher was probably fatally injured and Alexander Wiedmar, Arthur Roe, Ryland Vick and Charles Melson, less seriously hurt. All are from Woodland, N. C., and were en route to Norfolk on a cross-country dash. The car ran into the side of a bridge, broke it down and dashed into the creek. Fisher is unconscious in a local hospital.

SOLDIERS IN THE MOVIES

Charlotte Man Takes Thousand Feet of Film at Camp Glenn.

(Special Star Correspondence).

New Bern, N. C., July 4.—Dr. H. H. Chaffin, of Charlotte, passed through New Bern this morning en route home with a thousand feet of moving picture film which he "snapped" down at Camp Glenn during the past week.

Dr. Chaffin is connected with the Carolina Motion Picture Company and went to the camp shortly after the soldiers began to arrive there. A number of pictures were taken and these will be shown in the State theatres this week.

Dr. Chaffin will return to Camp Glenn later in the week and make "movies" of the drills which are to be held.

THOUSANDS AT FAYETTEVILLE CELEBRATE JULY FOURTH

Attorney General Bickett Unable to be Present—Ill at Morehead.

(Special Star Correspondence).

Fayetteville, N. C., July 4.—Fayetteville today observed the Fourth of July with an elaborate, a jolly and a much enjoyed celebration. Thousands of people were here from Cumberland and adjoining counties and none of them went away dissatisfied with the event. The chief feature of the day was the ceremonies incident to a flag raising at "Liberty Point," famous in the annals of the Cape Fear section.

The flag was presented to the Liberty Point Monument Association by Cape Fear Council of the Junior Order. The presentation speech was made by J. M. Broughton, Jr., Raleigh, the acceptance being my Mayor J. D. McNeill. The flag was then raised by Bettie Strange McNeill, little daughter of Col. George McNeill.

Preceding the flag presentation the "Liberty Point" declaration was read by Judge H. L. Cook and the Philadelphia declaration by Major E. R. MacKethan. Attorney General T. W. Bickett, who was to have delivered the chief address, was prevented from coming by sickness. He is at Morehead City, where the doctor will not allow him to leave his room.

The day began with an hour's open air concert by a 24-piece band. This was followed by a series of exciting and amusing contests of variouskinds, ranging from a 100-yard dash for fat men to a pie eating contest. At 12:20 a floral and industrial parade began to wind its way through the city. In this parade were decorated automobiles, carriages and rigs, and industrial floats, competing for cash prizes. Hundreds of children were ridden in motor cars in the parade.

The afternoon was filled up with aquatic contests at Eccles' Park pond and water contests on Hay street, including water battle between the fire companies of the city, while the Raeford-Fayetteville baseball game drew thousands to the ball park.

Daylight fireworks were sent up all during the day, while tonight the greatest fireworks display ever seen here was shown.

The celebration ended with dancing on Hay street tonight, from 9:30 till midnight.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION.

Step-Son of Sydney McQueen Held in Connection With Murder of Latter.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Fayetteville, N. C., July 4. — Arthur Austin, step-son of Sidney McQueen, well known negro, who was found murdered in his bed yesterday morning, has been arrested by Sheriff McGeachy, on suspicion, in connection with the murder. Austin, who is a son of McQueen's wife, is said to have made threats against his step-father recently. There is said to have been some difficulty between them, and McQueen had Austin arrested for vagrancy scarcely more than a week ago.

A cash box in McQueen's room, said to have contained $150, was found broken open when the deed was discovered, and robbery had, therefore, been thought the motive actuating the slayer.

JONES COUNTY MAN WINS

F. Brock Nominated for Senate by Democrats of Seventh District.

(Special Star Correspondence).

New Bern, N. C., July 4.—While the complete returns of the election held in this, the Seventh senatorial district, have not been received yet, it is a foregone conclusion that Mr. F. Brock, of Jones county, defeated his opponent, Mr. Paul Webb, of Morehead City, by a good sized majority.

Craven county gave the Jones county man at least eight per cent of its vote and the other counties, with the exception of Carteret, gave Brock the majority.

This was the second primary held, Col. W. D. Pollock, of Lenoir, being the only one of the trio in the first primary securing a number of votes sufficient to elect him.

East Chicago, Ind., July 4.—Ever Hammer, of Chicago, held Johnnie Dundee, New York lightweight, to a draw in a fast ten round contest here today, according to the majority of newspaper experts.

BIBLE ESCAPED TORPEDO

Floated to Scottish Coast From Vessel Sunk by Submarine.

(Chicago Examiner).

In the relic room of a Chicago mail-order house there has been placed on exhibition a water-soaked family Bible that had survived a torpedo from a submarine and the billows of the Atlantic ocean.

Ordered by a customer, J. Terry Morgan, in Sierra Leone, West Africa, the Bible was sent by parcel post from Chicago and was a part of the mail on board the steamship Falaba when she was torpedoed and sunk in March, 1915, off the southwest English coast.

In some way the Bible was torn loose from the mail bag by the explosion. It was picked up by a fisherwoman weeks ago on the coast of Scotland.

How, with its compactness and weight, it could have floated that distance is a mystery. The book was sent to Liverpool, the postmarks and shipper's name being deciphered and returned to Chicago.

BIG RAT CLEARS SCHOOLROOM

Fair Co-Eds in Panic When Rodent Escapes From Paper Bag.

(Redlands (Cal.) Dispatch).

One lonely rat caused a stampede in the halls of learning of the University of Redlands. Charles Gillett, football and baseball player, had taken the rat all done up in a paper sack to the university for an ulterior motive, namely, to study the interior.

Gillett placed the rat on the floor of the library, and he swears that some one got curious and opened the bag, letting the rat out. Fair co-eds climbed tables, chairs, bookcases and went out of doors and windows, and the building was cleared in less time than it can be done in fire practice.

VANDERBILT INN TO BE THE NAME OF OVERHILLS HOTEL

To Contain 200 Rooms and be Completed by Nov. 1, 1917.

Greensboro, N. C., July 4.—Upon the return of Mr. J. F. Jordan, one of the promoters, from several weeks stay in New York, it is announced that the Overhills hotel development on the Atlantic Coast Line between Fayetteville and Sanford is now assured.

The fact that the house is to be called Vanderbilt Inn, and that it is to be run in connection with and under the management of the Vanderbilt Hotel, New York, means success for the enterprise from the very beginning, as the New York hotel can fill the place at Overhills with guests from its own clientele alone.

The plans are being drawn by the famous architects, Warren & Wetmore, who built the Belmont, Vanderbilt, Ritz-Carlton, Plaza and Biltmore hotels and the Grand Central station, New York, and are the architects of the Times Square hotel, now building, at a cost of $2,000,000.

Vanderbilt Inn is to open November 1, 1917. Two hundred rooms will be constructed, with kitchen and dining room large enough for 200 more rooms, to be added later. Among those interested with Mr. Jordan in this enterprise are B. N. Duke, George W. Watts, Everit Macy, Frank R. Chambers, Harry P. Shedd, A. Monell and Crawford Livingston, of New York; J. B. Cobb and R. J. Reynolds.

DR. J. A. SPEIGHT NAMED.

To Succeed Dr. Braswell as Health Officer in Nash County.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rocky Mount, N. C., July 4.—Following the resignation of Dr. J. C. Braswell, Jr., from the position of whole time health officer of Nash county, the county board of health lost no time in naming a successor and Dr. J. A. Speight, formerly of Nashville, now living in this city, was selected from a list of applicants for the position. Dr. Speight is well known over this section. He is an Edgecombe county boy and for the past several years has practiced in Nashville, removing to this city to become associated with his brothers, Drs. R. H. and J. P. Speight. The health department let it be known that they expected to continue the work on the same high plane that has placed Nash county in the forefront with the counties of the State.

CAT AND DOG DIE IN CHASE

Squirrel Escapes, But Girl Owner of Canine is Fined $2.

(New York Times).

Miss Lillian Rutledge, 19 years old, of 104 West Forty-eighth street, took Burweiser, her 13-year-old bulldog, out for a stroll at 1 o'clock in the morning along Central Park West. Suddenly a cat hove into view, chasing a big gray squirrel. In a twinkling Burweiser was away from his mistress and a good third was in the chase. The finish was a large oak tree, gained first by the squirrel and almost second by the cat But Budweiser, with one grand leap, landed on Tabby's back, and when the noise subsided Tabby's chasing days were over.

Policeman Kelleghan, attracted by the snarling and screeching, hurried to the scene, and with four bullets put an end to Burweiser.

Miss Rutledge was fined $2 later for allowing a dog to go unmuzzled in the streets.

PUT SALT ON BULL'S TALE.

But the Bird-Catching Plan Did Not Work on Enraged Animal.

(Defiance (Ohio) Dispatch).

Miko Flanagan, employed by the Wells Fergo Express company, learned that while it may be possible to catch birds by putting salt on their tails the same scheme cannot be worked to corral an angry bull that is trying to escape from a grizzly bear.

The bear and bull came into Defiance by Wells Fargo express on the same Baltimore and Ohio train. They were to be transferred here. The bull became scared at the bear, and escaped from his cage.

Flanagan got some salt, approached the bull, threw some at its tail, but missed. His bovine lordship emitted an angry roar and made for his pursuer with head lowered. Flanagan jumped a fence. E. H. Lambertson, the express company agent, chased the animal into a barn.

Treasurer.

GIVES $50,000 TO EQUIP BASE HOSPITAL.

Edward B. Close, president of the Pontex Cotton Mills, has placed $50,000 at the disposal of Dr. Samuel Lloyd of the Post-graduate Hospital to organize and equip a 500-bed base hospital to be used in a war with Mexico. The medical and surgical staff already is completely organized. The hospital will be thoroughly equipped and will have four motor ambulances and a train motor trucks. The complete personnel will be 200 men, and volunteers are wanted for hospital orderlies who are accustomed to the work and are in proper physical condition. Dr. Lloyd already has been commissioned a first lieutenant of the Medical Seserve Corps, and all necessary authority has been obtained from Washington. Mr. Close, whose wife, Mrs. Marjorie Post Close, probably will receive most of the $3,000,000 estate of the late C. W. Post, the food manufacturer of Battle Creek, Mich., expects to go with the unit as its quartermaster.

MONOTONOUS TRENCH WARFARE NOW BROKEN

Correspondent Kept Busy to Get Details of Allied Drive.

At Every Turn He Realizes the Immense Forces of Material and Men That Are Being Employed Against Germans.

Press Camp, in France, July 3 (Via London, July4). — Facts and impressions come in overwhelming numbers to the press correspondent who is on the move morning and night trying to grasp the details of the gigantic struggle which is in progress in Northern France. At every turn he realizes the immense forces of material and men that are being employed in this determined offensive.

Everywhere the eye can reach are perspiring and dust-laden soldiers, while on the side lines groups of peasants call out to the passing soldiers, and the drivers of ammunition trains, endlessly going and coming, for the latest news. British and German wounded are seen limping off the field, side by side, while processions of trucks reload shells and ambulances deliver wounded at the dressing stations to be passed on to waiting trains.

Where the British and French lines join there is another world of blue and khaki uniforms, and varied kinds of transport vehicles. An automobile took the Associated Press correspondent today to a point on the battlefield which a week ago had been in sight and range of the German machine gunners. Reserves were sitting about among the shell craters wrought by the terrific fire of the British guns, German rifles were being gathered in piles, and German dead in rows for burial. The correspondent was offered captured German helmets on all hands by the soldiers, German officers' revolvers and even a pair of binoculars.

The change from the scenes presented by the monotonous trench warfare to those of an advancing army was amazing. From the ruins of the German positions between Montebauman and Mametz the correspondent looked over the whole field toward the second great line of the German defences, where the barbed wire entanglements were plainly discernible; from the field won by the British with its battle litter and silent shell holes the spectator looked forward to where the battle still raged, and west, beyond Fricourt, to where the British infantry were advancing to take another position.

Men who were spoken to called out: "Good luck," or "bad luck," which meant that they had made the rush across the zone between the British and German lines against little opposition, or that some machine guns had been still in position and snipers had survived the shell fire.

At an instance of the amazing rapidity with which the British troops advanced, a British colonel took his first real sleep since the fight began in a German dugout where his predecessor's candle still burned on the table.

our front, piling up reinforcements there while comparatively neglecting the southern sector, dominated by the French. The Germans, anticipating our move, brought up great forces, much of which consisted of independent units called Mousqueton battalions, armed only with light guns. It was these battalions which inflicted the heaviest losses on us.

"Our enemy is brave and resourceful, and put up a desperate defense, especially in the region from Gommecourt to Fricourt, where he evidently expected our main attack. In this region the fighting was especially severe. The chalk formation gave the Germans a splendid chance to make the best use of their miners who constructed dugouts and other defensive works which our heaviest shells could not destroy. From these works Mousqueton battalions put up a most determined resistance.

"Physical features made the capture of Fricourt peculiarly difficult and our severe losses there were not unexpected. Montauban was one of the strongest positions occupied by the Germans, but our advance there was brilliant and rapid, without the losses suffered between Gommecourt and Fricourt.

"On the whole, we are well satisfied with our advance. We will continue our artillery preparation as (we have no intention of butting our head against a stone wall. The human factor must be considered, and this factor presents some unexpected problems on the German side, since, after all, the enemy has something to say about the progress of any offensive. We are meeting strenuous opposition. Our progress most certainly will be deliberate. Many places like Fricourt will be taken only after overcoming desperate opposition.

"That our gallant allies should advance faster with smaller losses than we is not only the fortune of war, but may be called poetic justice, since they lost so heavily during the long weeks while we were getting ready to take our share in the great offensive. However, it must be clear now, even to laymen, that the blame heaped on us for not going to the aid of the French before Verdun was quite undeserved as we are doing exactly what General Joffre requested. And when he gave the word, we sprang to the attack, in which we have suffered grievously, but which leads to no regret beyond sorrow for the fallen; for it now is our time to stand the brunt of battle.

"South of the Somme the Germans were completely surprised, and our allies will get through to the river without much loss. In that region you may look for immediate developments, as the fighting there now is in open field formation, the last of the enemy's works having been completed. A glance at the map will show you that our allies are clear across the network of trenches.

"Further north you will note that while our line now is behind the first series of German defenses, we are in immediate contact with strongly fortified places.

"We are well content to do our share in the great general allied offensive which already has proven that the initiative, so long in their hands, now is lost by the armies of the Central Powers."

TWO COTTON MILLS CHARTERED.

Among List of New Corporations Authorized Yesterday.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., July 4.—New Corporations chartered by the State today follow:

The Haynes Mills, Inc., of Avondale, Rutherford county, capital $300,000 authorized and $50,000 subscribed by R. R. Haynes, of Cliffside; Z. O. Jenkins, Henrietta, and others for general cotton milling business, real estate development and mercantile business.

The Aspin Cotton Mills Co., of Fayetteville, capital $130,000 authorized and $50,000 subscribed by Miles P. Hoffman and A. J. Fleming, of Philadelphia, and W. D. McNeill, of Fayetteville, for a general cotton milling business, including the making of yarns and cloths and dyeing and finishing.

The Tryon Public Service Co., of Tryon, capital $5,000 authorized and $1,000 subscribed by C. W. Ballinger and others for an auto passenger and freight service on any North Carolina highway.

The Robeson Grocery Co., of Lumberton, Robeson County, capital $50,000 authorized and $7,000 subscribed by M. G. Lee and others for a wholesale and retail grocery business.

An amendment for the charter of the Eastern Cotton Oil Co., T. S. White, president, increases the capital from $100,000 to $300,000.

LOOKING FOR SUCCESSOR TO DR. I. McK. PITTINGER

Vestry of Church of Good Shepherd Accepts Resignation.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., July 4.—The vestry of the Church of the Good Shepherd, (Episcopal), has accepted with keen regret the resignation of Dr. I. McK. Pittinger as rector, effective September 1, and appointed Graham Andrews, Jr., R. D. W. Connor and J. B. Cheshire, Jr., as a special committee to investigate availability of ministers under consideration and report to a special meeting later in the month, the purpose being to settle the matter of a successor to Dr. Pittinger before the latter's resignation is effective. Dr. Pittinger has served 25 years and retires because of advanced age and the fact that the growth of the parish is so great that the duties are altogether too heavy for him to perform. The vestry has appointed a committee to place a bronze tablet in the chancel in memory of Mrs. A. B. Andrews, whose generosity wiped out the $18,000 bonded indebtedness of the church through her will.

ALLEGED "MOONSHINER" SHOT.

Said to Have Been Wounded After Knocking Revenue Officer Down.

Asheville, N. C., July 4.—Thomas Gregg, Jr., an alleged moonshiner of Polk county, this state, lies seriously wounded at a local hospital and his father, Thomas Gregg, Sr., is in the Buncombe county jail following a running fight between revenue officers and the Greggs near Saluda this afternoon. The younger Gregg was struck by a bullet from the revolver of Thomas J. Boyd, a revenue agent, who says that he fired after the younger Gregg had knocked him down.

The revenue men say that they found an illicit still in full blast and being operated by the two Greggs. The father made no effort to escape when ordered to surrender, but the son is said to have grappled with Boyd, knocking the latter down.

MANAGER BUSCH RESIGNS FROM THE RALEIGH CLUB.

Raleigh, N. C., July 4.—Henry Busch, who has been in charge of the Raleigh club, of the North Carolina League since the beginning of the season, tonight resigned as manager, according to announcement of the president of the local club. Busch formerly played in the Southern League and the past three years managed the Petersburg, Virginia League, team. Duke Duncan, former Baltimore Federal League player, has been named as manager temporarily.

SPEAKS TO EDUCATORS

Bryan Appeals to Teachers to Not Yield to Clamor for Militarism

New York, July 4.—Hope that "the teachers in our public schools will not yield to the clamor for militarism," was voiced tonight by William Jennings Bryan in an address before the National Education Association in session here. "It is not the voice of the people," he said, "but an echo from the battlefields of Europe. The temporary excitement of a world war should not be allowed to disturb our permanent educational system."

INVENTS ICELESS ICE BOX

Ingenious Dane Patents Water-Cooled Refrigerator.

(Copenhagen Correspondence.)

A substitute for refrigerators with real ice in them has been discovered by an inventive Dane in the use of boxes cooled by water. His invention has proven so popular that in all the newer apartment houses the feature is being incorporated.

The iceless refrigerator is accomplished by so constructing the piping in the house that all the cold water is conducted through pipes at the rear of the box. Since a great deal of cold water is drawn during the course of a day, the refrigerators stay fresh and cool.

LIGHTNING IGNITES GAS

It Split a Natural Main in a Storm in Indiana.

(Anderson, Ind., Dispatch.)

Lightning split a natural gas main in the country near Pendleton during a storm, it was discovered during an investigation of why gas pressure was so low in Pendleton. Frank Rumler, superintendent, found that a main had been split for several feet and the gas ignited. A flame 10 feet high was burning. The earth had been torn away from the pipe.

Several persons living there said the flame appeared during the storm Friday, and it was supposed the gas company knew about it in a short time.

communications. It is thought that Von Bothmer may be forced to retire to Lemberg.

An attack by land and sea against Feild Marshal Von Hindenburg's forces in the north, together with a new Rusian offensive at Baranovichi, promises interesting developments which are likely to have an influence in the Lutsk region where the Germans hitherto have been able to hold the Russias.

Astonishing Power of Iron to Give Strength to Broken Down Nervous People

Physician Says Ordinary Nuxated Iron Will Increase Strength of Delicate Folk 200 Per Cent. in Two Weeks' Time in Many Instances.

New York, N. Y.—In a recent discourse, Dr. E. Saueor, a well known Specialist who has studied widely both in this country and Europe, said: "If you were to make an actual blood test on all people who are ill you would probably be greatly astonished at the exceedingly large number who lack iron and who are ill for no other reason than the lack of iron. The moment iron is supplied all their multitude of dangerous symptoms disappear. Without iron the blood at once loses the power to change food into living tissue, and therefore nothing you eat does you any good; you don't get the strength out of it. Your food merely passes through your system like corn through a mill with the rollers so wide apart that the mill can't grind. As a result of this continuous blood and nerve starvation, people become generally weakened, nervous and all run down, and frequently develop all sorts of conditions. One is too thin; another is burdened with unhealthy fat; some are so weak they can hardly walk; some think they have dyspepsia, kidney or liver trouble; some can't sleep at night; others are sleepy and tired all day; some fussy and irritable; some skinny and bloodless, but all lack physical power and endurance. In such cases it is worse than foolishness to take stimulating medicines or narcotic drugs, which only whip up your fagging vital powers for the moment, maybe at the expense of your life later on. No matter what any one tells you, if you are not strong and well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next, take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the time double, and even triple their strength and endurance and entirely get rid of their symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles in from ten to fourteen days' time simply by taking iron in the proper form, and this, after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. You can talk as you please about all the wonders wrought by new remedies, but when you come down to hard facts there is nothing like good old iron to put color in your cheeks and good, sound, healthy flesh on your bones. It is also a great nerve and stomach strengthener and the best blood builder in the world. The only trouble was that the old forms of inorganic iron, like tincture of iron, iron acetate, etc., often ruined people's teeth, upset their stomachs and were not assimilated, and for these reasons they frequently did more harm than good. But with the discovery of the newer forms of organic iron all this has been overcome. Nuxated Iron, for example, is pleasant to take, does not injure the teeth, and is almost immediately beneficial.

NOTE—The manufacturers of Nuxated Iron have such unbounded confidence in its potency that they authorize the announcement that they will forfeit $100.00 to any Charitable Institution if they cannot take any man or woman under sixty who lacks iron and increase their strength 200 per cent or over in four weeks' time, provided they have no serious organic trouble. Also they will refund your money in any case in which Nuxated Iron does not at least double your strength in ten days' time. It is dispensed in this city by all druggists.

lines of our newspapers seem to indicate. There is a vast amount of thoughtfulness in this country. We are not a rash people. We are not filled with a spirit of militarism. We are not anxious to get into trouble, but if anybody thinks that the spirit of service and sacrifice is lost and that we have not got the old sentiment of self-respect he doesn't understand the United States.

Sentiment of Unity.

"We want patriotism and I don't think we are going to lose it very soon, although I do devoutly hope that out of the perils and difficulties of this time may come a new birth of the sentiment of unity. I do hope that in the midst of all these troublesome conditions we have a better realization of our national strength and of the import of our democratic institutions. * *

"We need not vast extent of territory, not great population, not simply extraordinary statistics of national wealth, although the y speak in eloquent words of energy and managing ability, but what we need more than anything else is an intelligent comprehension of the ideals of democracy. Those ideals are that every man shall have a fair and equal chance according to his talents. It is not an ideal of democracy that one alone shall emerge because of conspicuous ability but that there shall be a great advance of the plain people of the country upon which the prosperity of the country depends.

"We deplore every condition in which we find man lower than he should be under a free government. We want victories of democracy that the level success shall be raised.

Dream of America.

"My dream of America is America represented in public office by its best men, men working entirely for the good of the republic and according to the laws and ordinances established by the people for the government of their conduct and not for their personal or political desires, America working their institutions as they were intended to be worked with men whose sole object shall be to secure the end for which their offices were designed.

"And if one will throw his personal fortune to the winds; if he will perform in each place, high or low, the manifest obligations of that place, we will soon have those victories of democracy which will make the Fourth of July in its coming years a far finer and nobler day than it has ever been in the fortunate years of the past."

CALM COUNSEL IS URGED BY WILSON

turbed by the incident. He paused momentarily on the first question and turned to look at Miss Vernon, who stood with Miss Alice Paul and Miss Maude Younger, members of the Congressional Union, but he paid no heed to the second interruption. Nothing that the President said aroused such enthusiasm as his praise of that section of the Clayton Act declaring that labor is not a commodity.

"I am sorry," he said, "that there were any judges in the United States who had to be told that. It is so obvious that it seems to me that that section of the Clayton Act was a return to the primer of human liberty, but if judges have to have the primer opened before them, I am willing to open it."

Referring to the display of American flags carried by the Union workers in a parade which he had reviewed as part of the exercises, the President declared the flag always should recall America's duty in serving the world.

America for Liberty Lovers.

"America," he said, "did not come into existence to make one more great nation in the family of nations show its strength and to exercise mastery. America opened her doors to everybody who wanted to be free and to have the same opportunity that everybody else had to make the most of his faculties and his opportunities and America will retain its greatness only so long as it retains and seeks to realize those ideals. No man ought to suffer injustice in America. No man ought in America to fail to see the deep dictate of humanity.

Mrs. Wilson, Vice President Marshall and several members of the cabinet attended the exercises. Secretary Wilson, of the Labor Department, was master of ceremonies. President Gompers, of the Federation, who introduced President Wilson, started a prolonged demonstration by making an appeal for support of the President "in peace or war."

Norfolk, Va., July 4.—Champ Clark, speaker of the House of Representatives, en route to the state Baptist Seaside Encampment, where he delivered the Independence Day address spent several hours in Norfolk as the guest of the chamber of commerce and Rear Admiral McLean, commandant of the navy yard.

tification of the writer. Interviewed today, both Stocks and Frizzelle declared that they knew none of the lynchers. Important witnesses are expected to be put on tomorrow, among these a secret service man who has been posing as a tobacco hand in that section of Greene county from which it is thought the lynchers came.

INVESTIGATION UNDER THE DIRECTION OF GOVERNOR

Raleigh, N. C., July 4.—The arrest of Frizzelle and Stokes came as a culmination of a quiet investigation conducted for some time under the personal direction of Governor Craig. It is said that warrants are in the hands of deputies for forty or fifty more men under charge of complicity in the lynching of Black.

Joe Black, the negro lynched, was the father of Will Black, a young negro, who was tried, convicted and sentenced to the electric chair last week at Snow Hill in Greene county in an hour and forty minutes, the charge against him being criminal assault against an eight-year-old white girl. Joe Black was arrested for furnishing a gun to his son after the alleged assault and making threats against parents of the little girl.

The announcement of the arrests in Greene county yesterday, came as a surprise to the State, so closely had the matter been guarded in gathering evidence on which to try the men charged with complicity in the crime.
